

FBI Eyes Canyon Creek Apartment Deal

BY CARROLL WILSON
The FBI is investigating the general partnership involved in the construction and ownership of Canyon Creek Apartments. Federal assistant district attorney Robert Wilson of Lubbock said Thursday the FBI is looking into the circumstances surrounding the construction and now apparent failure of the apartment complex, located on a 7.8 acre site in north Canyon. West Texas State University officials, who were asked to assume the $1.2 million loan on the complex to turn the apartments into married student and faculty housing, rejected the offer Thursday afternoon.

Financial vice president Virgil Henson said the administration had decided not to accept the offer of the apartments' owners. Two partners in the complex met with university officials and Canyon apartment owners to discuss the offer Tuesday night. Several local apartment owners said they felt university acquisition of the apartments would constitute unfair competition. Deed records in the Randall County clerk's office indicate Canyon Creek Apartments are owned by a general partnership of the following: Hunsley Hills Developers, Inc. of Canyon, Frank H. Jones of Amarillo, John W. Notestine of Amarillo, Stanley K. Davis of Amarillo, Sam W. Davis of Amarillo, Guyon H. Saunders of Amarillo, Ed A. Fancher of Amarillo, J. Dawson Little of Amarillo, Dan B. Flemming of Amarillo, S. Lee Napier of Amarillo and William F. Gunn of Fort Worth. Stanley Davis and Fancher met with university officials and local apartment owners Tuesday night and said that due to financial losses they were forced to offer the university assumption of an FHA-insured loan or face foreclosure. They intimated that if the mortgagor of the property was forced to foreclose and the loan became the responsibility of FHA, Canyon's economy would suffer greatly due to a probable loss of FHA insured loans for housing here. Don Earney, director of the district insuring office for the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Lubbock, said Friday foreclosure of the Canyon Creek Apartment loan would have no effect on other loans applied for in Canyon. "It will have absolutely no effect on other people in Canyon," he said.

FHA officials in Lubbock said they were first approached about insuring a loan for construction of the Canyon apartments in 1969 and worked with the partners in meeting FHA specifications. Deed records and records filed with the FHA indicate many of the partners in the apartment project were also involved in making the loan for construction, designing the complex and construction itself. Notestine and Jones, two of the partners, were also architects for the job. Stanley Davis and Sam Davis, two other partners, are associated with Panhandle Engineers and Contractors, Inc. of Amarillo, contractor for the job.

Guyon Saunders, Ed A. Fancher, J. Dawson Little and S. Lee Napier, also partners, are associated with Ordway-Saunders of Amarillo, a company which is agent for Farm and Home Savings Association, the firm which loaned $1.196 million to build the apartments. Fancher is listed on one deed filed in the county clerk's office here as a vice president of Farm and Home Savings Association. Hunsley Hills Developers, Inc., a partner in the complex, furnished the land upon which the apartments were constructed. The business affiliations of Flemming and Gunn had not been established by late Saturday.

Earney said a partnership consisting of architects, contractors, land owners and officers of the lending company is "not really all that unique." A deed of trust filed in Randall County indicates Farm and Home Savings Association loaned the general partners $1,196,800 at 8 1/2 percent interest for 40 years. The deed is dated Sept. 22, 1970. According to Earney, the FHA insured 90 percent of the loan. Gene Whitney, underwriter in the Lubbock FHA office, said various paperwork submitted by the partnership to obtain FHA insurance was checked for accuracy, but no investigation was made of the partnership. The Canyon Creek Apartment developers were required to produce feasibility studies showing a need existed in Canyon for the 100-unit complex and that a sufficient future need would exist to justify the construction. Whitney said the feasibility studies proved current and future need. He said one of the bases upon which the studies were made was enrollment at West Texas State University.

University enrollment peaked at just less than 8,000 students in 1970 after years of continuous growth. In the fall of 1971 and 1972, enrollment dipped to a current level of about 6,500. Davis and Fancher, during Tuesday night's discussion in Canyon, placed primary fault for their inability to keep the apartments financially solvent on declining enrollment at WTSU. The loan insured by FHA and made by Farm and Home Savings Association is commonly known as a "no-recourse loan." A rider on the deed of trust filed here explains in legal terms just what a no-recourse loan is: "...in the event of default under the terms hereof, the holder shall take no action against the maker personally except such as may be necessary to subject to the satisfaction of the indebtedness the property described herein and any chattels appurtenant to the use thereof..." In lay terms, that means the lending company, Farm and Home Savings, will not hold the general partners in the apartment complex responsible if payments cannot be met. Rather, the FHA will assume responsibility for the apartments and the remainder of the loan. Earney said a similar rider is attached to each deed of trust filed in connection with an FHA insured loan. He said federal statutes require the no-recourse clause be added even on houses insured by FHA.

VOL. 4 NO. 6 CANYON, TEXAS SUNDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1972 10 PAGES 1 SECTION 10 CENTS

Pot Use In Wreck Alleged

A $100,000 damage suit, which alleges one of the defendants was under the influence of marijuana at the time damages were incurred, has been filed against two South Amarillo residents.

The suit, which concerns the May 1972 death of an Amarillo girl, was filed last week in 47th District Court in Randall County.

Wilford S. Brashears and his wife, Jacqueline, who live in Potter County filed the suit against Kim Janna Peres and Richard S. Peres of South Amarillo.

The suit alleges that on or about May 29, 1972, the Brashears' daughter, Lisa, was a passenger in a car driven by Kim Peres when the car was involved in a one-vehicle accident on U.S. 183 north of Leander in Williamson County.

The accident resulted in the death of Lisa.

The suit alleges that Lisa and Kim Peres were returning to Amarillo from school in Austin. Kim Peres was negligent, the suit says, because she failed to take proper precautions to avoid the accident and because she was "driving an automobile upon a public highway while under the influence of narcotic drugs...marijuana."

The suit also alleges that Richard Peres is negligent because, as owner of the vehicle, he allowed Kim Peres to drive "when he knew she was an unfit and incompetent driver because she was youthful and inexperienced and otherwise unqualified."

The Brashears' suit seeks $100,000 for the suffering of Lisa, who they say lived about one hour after the accident. They seek $15,000 for funeral and burial expenses and $2,000 for medical and ambulance expenses.

In addition, they seek $30,000 due to the loss "of the valuable services of their daughter which by reason of the fact that Mrs. Brashears is an invalid."

Exemplary damages sought total $50,000.

Charlotte Tompkins, left, was named Homecoming Queen at Canyon High School Friday night during pre-game activities before the Eagles and Palo Duro Dons commenced battle in Kimbrough Stadium. The three other finalists in the queen contest were Cindy Williams, Teddi Crager and Kathy Dees.

Deltah Roberts of Tulia was named Miss WTSU Friday night also. She was chosen from a field of 17 beauties at the university and crowned during final judging at the activities center.

Harvest Picture Said Average

Despite the fact that grain sorghum harvesting is only about two weeks along and being held back by unmaturing crops, the maize picture looks good for Randall County farmers and feeders, agriculture sources said this week.

Randall County Agent John Brazil told The News that harvest yields "are increasing each day and looks like the beginning of a pretty good crop."

According to Brazil, dryland crops are showing good yields in the areas where some rain was received. While not average, some dryland yields have been running from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds per acre. The rainless areas will produce almost no crop at all, said the county agent, but yields were expected to be good in most regions of the county.

On irrigated land there is no definite pattern yet, said Brazil, but the 1972 crop should be at least average, possibly much better than average.

The big problem at this stage of the harvest is a high amount of moisture. The crop is still "too green" with slow drying a detriment to final harvesting operations.

In saying that he thought most growers were "pleased" with this year's crop, Brazil noted some reports indicated yields of from 6,000 to 7,000 pounds of grain sorghum per acre.

The operators of two grain elevators in Randall County agreed with the county agent. Both said it was too early to make any solid predictions about the crop but each voiced the opinion that the 1972 yield should match or better the county average.

One operator termed the crop's quality as "very good" and agreed that growers were not unhappy at this point.

Brazil also said that he had received favorable reports from the operators of feedlots in regard to this year's grain crop.

Speaking of other county harvest outlooks, Brazil said one or two soybean producers had reported yields of 46 bushels to the acre. The county average would be about 30 bushels, said the county agent. He added that only about 2,000 acres in Randall County are used for growing soybeans.

In Umbarger, some sugar beet growers have started digging operations and report sugar content running about 15 per cent, an unusually good percentage for this early in the harvest season.

How Accurate Are Polls About Political Event?

This may be the year of the politician, but it's also the year of the public opinion poll.

Every major candidate has hired his own polling firm, two of the nation's largest turn out new predictions week after week and across the country newspapers, radio and television stations are conducting straw polls.

With the results from these polls often conflicting while bombarding Americans almost daily, wherein lies the truth?

Can polls be trusted?

Dr. Hubert Oppé, chairman of the department of sociology at West Texas State University and instructor in public opinion classes, believes that polls conducted under controlled conditions are at best fairly accurate indicators of public opinion at a given moment in time.

Straw polls, he feels, are just what the name implies — "straws in the wind."

"Straw polls are very inaccurate," he said. "They don't have any of the built-in guarantees of objectivity."

The proliferation of polls this year of the general election is viewed with disdain by Dr. Oppé.

"The whole polling thing has been blown all out of proportion," he said. "Everybody thinks he can conduct a poll, that all he has to do is go around and ask people what they think."

To be accurate, Dr. Oppé says, the pollster must insure a representative sample is obtained. And, even then, major pollsters like Gallup and Harris concede a three per cent margin of error. "When Gallup polls, he asks 1500 people and they get a representative sample as they can get," he said.

In compiling his poll, for example, Gallup has studies which indicate that people in certain socio-economic categories have a propensity to vote a certain way.

His poll is based on the probability that people with similar backgrounds will also vote in similar ways.

Gallup pollsters then travel throughout the country contacting a predetermined number of people in pre-established categories in an effort to come up with a representative feeling of opinion which can be generalized for the American Public at large.

If the categories of people polled is not representative of the American public the poll will be inaccurate.

"When Truman was running for office in '48, the Literary Digest or one of the magazines only used the telephone to obtain a sampling," he said. "They called many people and were still wrong because they ignored the lower socio-economic class which didn't have phones but were in the corner of Truman."

Brown Spits Farthest To Become Champion

The old-time spitters didn't compete Saturday morning and the younger men took home the loot as the World Championship Spitting Contest was held in Canyon.

Weyman Brown, with a ballooning jaw, grinned ear to ear as he accepted first place $25 prize money from Canyon News publisher Troy Martin.

Brown spit a distance of 16 feet 4 inches to win the distance contest and hit the small brass spittoon at a 10-foot distance square in the center on his first try to win the first place money.

Wes Bourn, 2403 15th Ave., won second place with a 15 feet 8 inch distance spit and a second try hit at the spittoon.

Third place money of $10 went to Larry Duggan with a 12 foot 11 inch spit and a second try miss.

The only other competitor in the spitting contest was Jack Flippin of 3721 Langtry in Amarillo.

Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson, himself sporting a chaw of tobacco in his jaw, wielded the tape measure in determining the winners.

The spitting contest was sponsored by The Canyon News in an effort to attract attention to the downtown area in Canyon and to promote community spirit.

Buffaloes Freeze Aggies 63 to 14

The first shivering coldfront of the fall blew into Canyon Saturday night and froze solid the New Mexico State University Aggies as they lost 63-14 to a completely contrasting well-heated West Texas State University Buffalo team in Kimbrough Stadium.

As the temperature dipped into the 40s, the Buffs hurdled over the 20s, 30s, 40s, 50s and 60s, amassing a gargantuan 672 yards on offense in scoring nine touchdowns while holding the Aggies to two feeble efforts.

Coach Gene Mayfield emptied his bench as everybody from freshmen on up played a good portion of the game.

In fact, freshman halfback Rick Schleider scored three touchdowns and totalled more than 140 yards rushing to lead the Buff ground game.

Three Buffaloes tallied more than 100 yards rushing — Schleider, Billy Pritchett and Cole Fraley.

Schleider was credited early in the fourth quarter of action with the second longest run from scrimmage in the history of the school — 91 yards, equalled only by Rocky Thompson who ran the ball 99 yards from scrimmage during the 1970 season against Wichita State University.

It was a disheartening sixth straight loss for the Aggies but it extended the Buff win record to three with two losses this season.

The Buffaloes scored in every quarter Saturday night as the defenseless Aggies were swept from their feet time after time.

The first half of action Saturday night was typically exciting Buff football.

The West Texans made their initial score with a one touchdown disadvantage late in the first quarter.

New Mexico State scored on their initial series of downs after a 64-yard drive in 14 plays with Reggie Gray going over for the score.

Driving 55 yards in 9 plays with three first downs, the Buffs sent Pritchett one yard into paydirt with 4:48 showing on the clock. An Arcadio Rivera kick tied up the score.

Unable to move after a series of downs in the second quarter, the Aggies punted and set up the second Buff score.

High Court Ruling Could Impact Here

BY JIM SANDS

The U.S. Supreme Court this week began hearing arguments in a Texas school case and the final outcome could greatly affect the Canyon Independent School District and every resident within its boundaries.

The case in question involves the method now used to finance schools in the state, with claims being made that use of property tax money results in inferior education for pupils attending school in impoverished areas.

The Texas case is the first such case to reach the high court although an earlier California case first challenged the property tax method of funding public schools.

According to the original suit filed in Texas, the present taxing method causes educational deficiencies between children living in poorer districts and those residing in more prosperous districts.

In Canyon, city and school tax assessor-collector Conway Kuykendall said steps are being taken in Austin to provide means of school financing that would comply with any possible ruling against the present method.

Kuykendall said he had talked to two members of subcommittees working on the project about alternate plans being made.

One member is Orville Click, school assessor-collector for Hereford, the other is Jim Nugent, assessor-collector for the Amarillo School District and the City of Amarillo. The two men hold positions on separate subcommittees.

According to Kuykendall, he has been told that proposed changes would be strict, with churches and organizations such as the Boy Scouts not exempt. Changes also call for all residents of a district, including rural areas, to be required to obtain building permits to allow assessor-collectors to better locate and tax all property.

Required use of revenue stamps on property deeds was another possibility mentioned in the proposals to allow better evaluation of property, Kuykendall said.

According to reports by the committeemen, the possibility of a state income tax to finance schools was brought into the Austin discussions. This form of school funding is currently being used by some states.

A special sales tax, also used by some states, is another of the various methods being con-

U.S. 60 Meet Off Due To Campaigns

A meeting scheduled next weekend in Ruidoso, N.M., to continue discussion of the redesignation of U.S. 60 as an interstate highway has become a victim of politics.

In a letter received last week by Roland Black, Canyon Chamber of Commerce manager, his counterpart in Roswell wrote that the meeting must be postponed until after the November general election.

This meeting had been called in Ruidoso expressly to talk about the redesignation with Sen. Joe Montoya of New Mexico and possibly Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen of Texas.

"Because of the increasing involvement of our congressmen in the political campaign, we are forced to postpone our meeting in Ruidoso until after the election date," Ernie Witucki, manager of the Chamber of Commerce in Roswell wrote.

The meeting is to be a continuation of discussions on the status of a proposal that the highway become a part of the nation's interstate system.

Meanwhile, Hereford residents met Thursday night in that city to talk over the pros and cons of (See MEETING, Page 5)

Nixon Is Choice At WT

President Nixon has a good following among students and faculty members at West Texas State University if a straw poll conducted recently is indicative of general support.

The poll was conducted by staffers of The Prairie, student newspaper, and included only students in political science classes on all levels at the university. The poll also included all faculty members.

A Prairie spokesman said 1,131 students were polled but results were tallied only from 880 of those who are registered voters.

In the student poll, President Nixon has a commanding lead with 703 favoring the incumbent. George McGovern, Democratic hopeful for the presidency, polled only 140. Other candidates received 37 votes.

In percentages, Nixon pulled 79.9 per cent of the vote of those polled while McGovern had 16 per cent.

A hundred and forty-two faculty members—or about half the faculty—returned questionnaires in the poll.

Ninety-nine indicated support for Nixon while 37 said they will vote for McGovern. Seven were (See NIXON, Page 5)

Our World

What Chance Would Angel Have?

By ANN BROWN

"Advertising doesn't cost; it pays." That is common knowledge to this generation, but in the infancy of advertising, it was a startling statement.

There is just one catch in the advertising game, however; before it pays, it costs. And any merchant who is unwilling — or unable — to pay the cost will not likely remain in the competition.

And in no area is this rule so authenticated as in the political arena. If Angel Gabriel should come to earth, and run for President on the platform of the 10 Commandments and the Golden Rule, what chance would he have if he didn't make his candidacy and platform known?

According to a recent poll, 55 percent of the people polled said they would not cast a ballot for President in November.

The consensus seems to be that the disillusioned citizens are convinced from experience that Nixon will not keep his promises, and they are terrified lest McGovern might. But having no other choice they prefer to stay away from the polls.

If that poll was valid, 55 percent of the voters could elect a third-party candidate. But what other party has informed the public as to its candidates and platform?

It pays to advertise — but first it costs. And is there a third party with that kind of money?

Many American voters have been reluctantly voting for the lesser of two evils ever since they have been voting. If our first-generation pioneers had resembled the current crop of Americans, they would have been pushed back into the Atlantic before the second generation was born.

The only person any man has to live with is himself. He can desert his wife, abandon his children, remove from his relatives, avoid his friends, and flee his native land. But no matter where he goes he cannot get away from himself.

Having to live with himself 24 hours a day, isn't it best for a man to seek the truth (in spite of the advertising), and vote his convictions for what he honestly believes to be right — regardless of the consequences?

There are honest citizens who insist they will vote for open saloons in Randall County, not because they want them, however. But they insist that saloons are less evil than having our tax money go to Potter County, drunks clog the freeway to Amarillo, and our young people tempted by the "forbidden fruit," etc.

One could use exactly the same logic to support selling a license to commit murder. There were 17,600 intentional murders reported in the U. S. in 1971. Legal permits alone would have collected considerable revenue, but think of the millions saved on prosecution costs, if murder were legal.

And we could pay off the national debt on the money saved by legalizing lesser crimes. The rapes, robberies, and assaults — that were reported — totaled more than 791,000 in 1971.

The legal process involved in the average arrest reportedly costs more than $3,000. (Could that be the silver lining in the cloud that permits 4 out of 5 criminals to escape arrest?)

Would there really be so much difference in the results (number of people killed) in encouraging intentional murder by selling potential killers a license than in making it easier for drinking drivers to get alcohol?

The victims would be just as dead. More than 26,000 were "murdered" by drinking drivers last year.

The only excuse for liquor-by-the-drink is to make it more readily available when one is away from his home. How do Americans get away from home? Very few walk.

Advertising is extremely profitable — for the people who advertise. But the wise consumer shops around, compares values, and buys accordingly.

Should any American patriot allow selfish politicians or greedy liquor merchants to disenfranchise him or gull him into casting a vote he would be ashamed of before God, his pastor, or his neighbors?

Getting The Truth
Hard In Politics

BY CARROLL WILSON

People must be naturally defensive. They feel threatened when you begin asking too many questions about their job or something over which they have control.

But, probably the most defensive people I've run into are politicians and government employees.

Politicians, particularly those in this area at the state level and above, have apparently had the experience over the years that the press release is the only real contact they'll have with newspapermen.

They have become accustomed to issuing press releases on this and that and having the press accept these releases at face value, printing them without question.

When they talk with newsmen, they speak in mini-press releases, non-stop verbiage which assumes the newspaperman has no questions to ask.

Press conferences, with the advent of television coverage, with all its superficialities, have become little more than press releases spoken rather than written.

I call it the "press release syndrome."

It's been a long time since I've had what you might call a discussion with a state-level or above politician.

I ask a question and the reply I get is an instant press release, full of the platitudes and bromides for which politicians are famous.

If I ask a question and refuse to accept their press release answer at face value, the immediate reaction of the politician is defensiveness.

The tone of his voice and the expression on his face display his disdain that I want to complicate things by finding out what's really going on.

Government employees are just about as bad, if not worse.

But, rather than being in a press-release syndrome, they are in just the opposite.

Government agencies typically are rarely covered in depth by the news media, despite claims to the contrary. Much of their work is too specialized, too couched in federalese and too involved in paperwork and files for the average reporter, with pressing deadlines, to go into.

Therefore, they are rarely asked significant questions which delve deeper than into the surface areas of their agencies.

If you go deeper, watch out.

Government employees seem to resent the idea that what they do is open to public scrutiny and inspection and because they haven't had much exposure to public interest, some even have the idea that what goes on in their balldick is none of the public's business.

Bureaucracy breeds a protective spirit, a feeling of self-preservation perhaps found in big businesses.

Some government employees, then, are not just defensive, they're paranoid. They fear for their jobs.

A prime example is West Texas State University.

Administrators at the university have no tenure. Their jobs are not secure forever like those of faculty members who meet the tenure criteria.

And, some of the administrators at WTSU couch their defensiveness and their fear in what they term protecting the good of the university.

An administrator, for example, told a local man last week it was none of his business if WTSU wanted to purchase the Canyon Creek Apartments.

It is, of course, very much everybody's business if they pay taxes.

Just like it's everybody's right to know why the university enrollment is declining. Or whether the university is discriminating against women.

Just like it's everybody's right to know the truth behind statements made by politicians in the bustle and heat of campaigning.

Politicians may decry Jack Anderson and others. They may condemn Daniel Ellsberg.

But, the truth has become so obfuscated in our government and its bureaucracy that I can criticize them little for whatever failures they make.

Price, USDA
Reps Due Here

Congressman Bob Price and two representatives from the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be in the Canyon area Tuesday.

Price will be in an agriculture class on the West Texas State University campus at 1 p.m.

At 4 p.m., he will accompany Dr. Carroll Brunthaven, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Terri Harman of the USDA on an inspection tour of Randall County Feedyard.

And speaking of sports, you may have heard about the fellow who went to 1,632 major league baseball games without once being close to a souvenir foul ball... but on his first trip to the auto races a wheel came off and hit him in the head.

There was the time in the early 1950s when I went to see a Cardinal-Giant game at Sportsman's Park in St. Louis. There were 34,694 spectators, 316 vendors, 109 ushers, 32 newsmen, 14 groundskeepers, six coaches, four umpires, two managers and two batboys in the crowd... and a bird picked on me.

Letter To The Editor
Pastor Charges Blasphemy

Dear Mr. Martin,

I have read some of the editorials in your paper with feelings ranging from affirmation to incredulity to outrage. The only time I experience outrage is over the blasphemy of God's Name by Ann Brown (Jeremiah 23, 30 will tell you what I mean). I would like to comment on her editorial of Oct. 8.

First, I wonder if she personally read the book referred to, or got it second or third hand. It seems impossible that a man with such academic credentials would resort to such inaccurate statements about the Bible. Nor does she inform us when Mr. Howard's comments leave off and hers begin. Academic honesty should inform us of that. Since she does not indicate any negative comments, I assume everything said in the editorial is in agreement with her thinking.

As one who loves Jesus Christ and who is a clergyman, I particularly resent her ability to twist the God revealed in Scripture into a John Birch, especially since it is done by twisting texts, ignoring context, ignoring the totality of Scripture, and turning God into an enforcer of racism, of carelessness toward those in need, of capitalism, and of Goldwater Republicanism.

For her information, Israel was as close to being socialist as one could get in a day long before socialism was articulated. The priests of Israel were the physicians — they diagnosed and treated cases. Offerings were made after the cure (maybe that's the only time physicians should get paid), part of which went to the priests. But those who could afford it would offer a sheep; those who could not, might offer a dove. And regarding the poor, among other things, "gleaning" was one method of making sure that the poor, the widows, the fatherless, and the aliens received enough to eat (Ruth and Boaz met while she was gleaning in his field. Jesus was descended from a welfare recipient as well as a welfare contributor). And I don't see that as being "based upon the immoral redistribution of wealth by government." The real immorality is for people to hide behind arguments supporting individual contributions to handle social problems that only massive corporate action will resolve.

And if government is not an indication of our belief that government is "our brother's keeper", why does government exist? We would not settle for a "dog-eat-dog" world, for in it everybody gets hurt. Gleaning in the Old Testament was a law that farmers were to follow, not a local or individual option. And I really failed completely to see how "personal redemption, and salvation for individuals" militates against economic socialism. Can't socialist individuals be saved?

I also had trouble figuring out what "Christian" nation she was talking about. It would be strange to refer to the United States as a Christian nation (statistically or any other way). If she had said it was a nation that worships sex, or materialism (a god shared with many communist nations), or football, or middle-classness, she would have made sense to me.

I must agree that Christian teaching, because of a paranoia over violation of "separation of church and state" (but churches are tax-exempt), does not get the hearing in public schools that Freud, Marx, or maybe even Hugh Hefner gets. But on the other hand, if through editorials such as Mrs. Brown's, the message of Christianity is made an insult to intelligence and integrity, then who should we expect to listen?

The fact is, newspaper editorialists have a great deal of influence over the thinking of people in a given area. And thus Mrs. Brown has the moral responsibility to speak the truth in love, rather than confusing the public with clichés, half-truths, and non-sequiturs. I would recommend, therefore, that her column be limited to twice a month, so that she may have more time to thoroughly research her topic and thus ensure more accuracy. Secondly, she should repent of her abuse of Scripture, the Christian message, and God's Name. I do not quarrel with her using it, but I do resent God being made so plastic as to become a handmaiden of her own personal prejudices.

Thank you for including my letter in your column.

Yours truly,
Rev. David W. Melber

A Use For Coupons

Mr. Martin:

Several months ago I heard an announcement over the television asking for Betty Crocker Coupons for Girlstown at Borger. Since I had heard of other projects being started but discontinued, I didn't know whether to send my coupons or not. Last week I sent them 407 coupons and received a most grateful letter from them. They have 18 months in which to raise 600,000 coupons (less what they have with which to buy a new pick-up. Their old one is almost worn out).

Now Betty Crocker puts out 175 different coupons by General Mills. So it looks to me like we could take the fraction of a minute to tear the coupon off and I have placed a container in Cooper's Grocery and if people will just drop their coupons in it — I will keep them collected and sent to Girlstown at Borger. Let's all get behind them and help them!

Thank you for printing this as I feel others might be wondering just what to do with their coupons.

Flowers To
The News

Dear Troy:

Since this is National Newspaper Week, I'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate you all at the Canyon News for the fine job you are doing. In my opinion, the News not only excels in its news coverage, but in its editorials, features, and advertising as well. I feel very fortunate to have access to such an outstanding newspaper, and am honored to be associated with such a dedicated group of journalists.

Sincerely,

Did You Fill Out
Census Form?

The city-wide church census taken Saturday morning, Oct. 7, indicated a good response from both volunteers and residents, according to the Rev. Mel Hardin, director.

Those who neglected to fill out the form and hang it on their doorknob are urged to turn the form in to any church in town. Forms may also be obtained at all churches in the community.

Hardin said that the forms were filled out and hanging from doorknobs at 50 percent of the residents covered. Workers knocked and left forms where needed. Minor "mopping-up" operations are planned.

Workers planned to begin tabulating figures from the census yesterday. Print-outs of the results will be distributed to all churches.

The Stranger
To Be Shown

The Stranger, a film based on the novel by French novelist Albert Camus, will be presented at 7 and 9 p.m. Oct. 18 at the Varsity Theater here.

The 1968 release starring Marcello Mastroianni and Anna Karina is sponsored by the Alliance Franciase of Amarillo-Canyon and the West Texas State University modern languages department. Admission charge is $1.

Directed by Luchino Visconti, the film probes the psychological turmoil of a man who, after years of quiet living in Algiers, commits a murder and is brought to trial.

Camus' work has been described as an "indelible picture of a human being helpless in life's grip."

Palo Duro Batters Canyon 34-0

Canyon Coach Ron Mills changed his tactics Friday night to no avail, as the Eagles held to a ground attack almost exclusively in their sixth straight loss of the season.

The Eagles fell to Palo Duro High School's Dons 34-0 before a large homecoming crowd in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

The Eagles, who in their first five outings have taken to the air and tried to sweep, saw a couple of runners unleash new speed not seen before.

Matt Hanson and Gary Gerber found running room time after time—not around the ends of the Dons, but through the center of the line—as they helped the Eagles rack up 258 yards rushing.

The Eagles put up a terrific offensive show, but could never penetrate their opponents' goal lines as they ran 67 plays compared to 44 run by the Dons.

The Eagles also amassed one more first down than the Dons.

Palo Duro's swift and evasive Stan Davis and Jim Tipton found holes in the Eagle line as they led their team to 195 yards rushing. The Dons made 168 yards in the air while the Eagles compiled only 20 yards on three completions of 8 tries.

Friday night's first quarter was scoreless as the Eagles dominated play. They were stopped on the Eagle 24 with 1:28 remaining in the period.

Tipton took an Eagle punt all the way from deep in his own territory to the Eagle 23 to set up the first Palo Duro score.

In four plays, the Dons had driven to paydirt and a Paul Roush kick made the score 7-0 with 11:14 remaining in the second quarter.

The second Don touchdown was set up after another series of downs during which the Eagles were unable to move past the Don 43.

The Dons took over possession on their own five yard line. Eight plays later, Quarterback Mark Hall connected on a 39-yard pass to Dennis Watson for this score. Another Roush kick made it 14-0 with 3:38 left in the half.

The Dons scored again after receiving the opening kick-off in the second half. On the first play from scrimmage in the half, Davis took the ball up the middle for a 37-yard gain which put the Dons on Canyon's 28-yard line.

Six plays later, Tipton scampered up the middle for the score which put the Dons ahead 20-0 early in the second half.

The fourth Palo Duro score came with 10:10 remaining in the game.

The Eagles had begun another drive downfield when Quarterback Ed Lair took to the air and the pass was intercepted by Tim Black on the 50. Black ran it back all the way for the score and the Dons stretched their lead with the extra point to 27-0.

On the next series of downs, the Eagles began their first serious threat of the night as they drove from their 20 yard line to the Don 6. For four plays, the Eagles tried to score from inside the Don 10.

With just three minutes on the clock, the ball went over on downs and the Palo Duro win was almost on ice.

But, on the next series of downs, the Dons completed a 47-yard pass and a 50-yard pass to go in again to score the final points of the game.

The game ended with the Eagles threatening from the Palo Duro 21.

Hanson was leading ground gainer for the Eagles with 97 yards rushing. Gerber wasn't far behind with 75.

Next weekend the Eagles begin district play for the season as they meet Levelland at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Kimbrough stadium here.

D. Crow Work Featured On Phone Books

By CAROL CRAIN

A lovely scene featuring a rustic rail fence, gnarled oak, and a picturesque meadow of velvet green bonnets mingled with pale green prickly pear, and the feathery green of the mesquites, as painted by Canyon artist D. Crow will be featured on the telephone books of three city areas this year.

The announcement was made this week by Carol Grassman, representative on the Directory Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas.

One of Mrs. Crow's oils, entitled "Bluebonnet Meadow" was selected to be featured as the full color, cover picture because of the artistic beauty and state-wide acclaim given the artist.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce okayed the cover picture at a called meeting late this week for Canyon's 1973 directory which includes Clea and Umbarger. The book will be distributed here in December.

Another 85,000 people will get the Directory tabbed for South Austin. The book in the State Capitol will be larger than the one here and the cover will be close to the size of the Amarillo Telephone Directory. Delivery of these books is set for April, just as the state flower begins to bloom.

In June, five additional counties will receive the directory for "The Texas Hillcountry," home of the bluebonnets in abundance. Included in this area will be Kerrville and Fredericksburg.

Mrs. Crow was delighted at the announcement and very pleased with the cities that had been selected.

For it was in Austin that the

Texas House of Representatives formally recognized her talent in 1971 with a House Resolution honoring her for painting the state flower for some 25 years.

It was also in Austin that she was nominated for the Texas State Artist of the Year 1972 and is now known as the state's official bluebonnet artist. One of her oils now hangs in the private office of the Governor, as a gift to the state.

Mrs. Luci Johnson Nugent said of Mrs. Crow's oils in a personal note to the artist that her paintings "portray a part of Texas that is especially dear to my heart. . . ." The former White House resident also noted that a

D. Crow is "...such a treasure..."

Mrs. Crow will soon be featured in a book entitled "Artists Who Have Portrayed the American West" by Phil Kovenick of Los Angeles.

She reads daily in search of ideas for titles of each individual picture and is as creative with words as she is with the paint brush. Some of her titles include "Blue Heaven," "Beauty in the Hillcountry," "Bluebonnets Nod in the Sun," "Along the Bluebonnet Trail," "God's Acres," "Deep in the Heart of Texas," and "Bluebonnets: Texas Pride."

Alumni Give 4 Awards

Four awards — two previously announced — were presented at an ex-students luncheon on the West Texas State University campus Saturday.

Presidents special awards went to William Angus Moore and Mrs. Lucille Nance Jones.

Moore was honored for his direction of "TEXAS," a historical drama staged in Palo Duro Canyon through each summer season.

Making the presentations was Wayne Rankin of Plainview who is president of the WTSU Ex-Students Association.

Rankin hailed the musical as one of the largest tourist attractions in the Panhandle and said it provides a rare opportunity for drama students of

West Texas State.

Moore is a member of the WTSU drama department faculty.

In accepting the award he heaped praise on his wife, Mrs. Margaret Moore, who assists him in directing the "TEXAS" production. He said his wife helps him in fulfilling his job on the WTSU faculty and that the university really gets "two for the price of one" for this reason.

Mrs. Jones was honored for making Nance Hereford Ranch east of Canyon available for the use of the university. She was not present and the award was accepted by Dr. James P. Cornette in her behalf.

Distinguished alumni awards went to Dr. Ruth Lowes and Cloyce K. Box. These awards had been announced earlier.

Dr. Lowes is a former member of the WTSU faculty and a women's dormitory is named in her honor. Box is an outstanding businessman.

Prof Receives CPCU Rating

Mrs. Leslie G. Pray, assistant professor of business at West Texas State University, has been awarded the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) designation.

The designation is similar to Certified Public Accountant in accounting or Chartered Life Underwriter in life insurance.

The American Institute for Property and Liability Underwriters, Inc. said 557 persons were awarded the professional insurance designation at the recent annual meeting in New York and Mrs. Pray was one of only 33 women earning the CPCU. The institute said 5,582 took the CPCU examinations last year.

Mrs. Pray of (3700 Virginia) Amarillo has been a WTSU School of Business faculty member since 1966.

The Umbarber 4-H Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Umbarber.

She was named Woman of the Year in 1970-71 by the Insurance Women of Amarillo and was awarded a fellowship to Employers Casualty Co. in Dallas last year.

A 1938 graduate of Amarillo High School, she received a Master of Business Administration Degree from West Texas State in 1966.

STOP! At Turbin's Deep Rock Service Station, otherwise known as the Canyon Travel Center.

WHY! Stop and you'll quickly see as managers Ed McBride and Richard Spear provide you with first class service.

Open from 9:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. SEVEN DAYS A WEEK, they are willing to treat you right.

"We call it the free labor service station," say the youthful managers. "We do not charge our customers any labor costs on such things as oil changes or grease jobs."

And where else in town can you get a flat fixed for only one dollar?

"We don't try to make a killing around here," says Ed. "We try to satisfy our customers so they will come back." "Repeat sales is how we make our money."

"By being friendly to customers and doing our job right—whether it be washing a windshield or changing the oil—

we think we'll get enough business to compensate for our no labor cost policy," says Richard.

The low prices do not stop at labor jobs either.

At 29.9 cents for regular and 34.9 cents per gallon for ethyl, you cannot find lower priced gas in Canyon.

"But only the price is cheap," says Ed. "Deep Rock gasoline will compare with any gas on the market." "Better gas for lower prices is what we like to say," says Richard.

Turbin's Deep Rock is located at 2310 23rd St. or across from the Dairy Queen.

"We're right here on the corner where you turn to go to Gibson's," says Ed.

this case Panhandle Engineers and Contractors, a partner in the apartments—is allowed by FHA to receive a fee of not more than 10 per cent of that amount.

Architect's fees for the project totaled $41,903 for design. For architectural supervision, the fee totaled $3,550. Ordway-Saunders wrote $15,000 worth of insurance on the property.

FHA examination fee totaled $3,590 and FHA inspection fee totaled $5,984.

Title and recording expense is listed at $3,930. Financing fees are listed as $83,776.

Legal and organizational fees totaled $12,258.

The Canyon Creek Apartments were opened for occupancy on various dates during the fall of 1971.

Earney said his office keeps a running tab on occupancy of FHA insured projects "to spot problem areas."

"We realized the project was getting into trouble some months ago," he said. "We know this kind of project must run from 90 to 95 per cent occupancy to pay."

Earney said the Canyon Creek project was running consistently below an adequate level to make the required loan payments.

Fancher and Davis said Tuesday night the occupancy rate at that time was above 85 per cent.

During the spring, Earney said, he talked telephonically with several partners in the apartments in an attempt to work with them to increase occupancy.

"We talked to them and then we sent some people up there just to make sure they were doing everything they could to get tenants," Earney said. "We didn't see any results so I called them in here. I could see us having to repossess the project."

Earney said the FHA suggested the apartment owners lower rents somewhat to increase occupancy, but the owners refused to do so.

He said that during a meeting in the spring, the owners predicted they would not be able to pay for the project and that FHA would have to repossess it.

Earney said reports from Farm and Home Savings Association indicate the owners had not been making payments on the loan.

The first payment on the loan was due in February of 1972. The last payment on the project was made in April 1972.

A statement of operations for the month of December 1971 indicates a net income of $2,208.

It was either during this period of time in the spring or later during mid-summer when the owners contacted West Texas State University about assuming the $1.2 million loan and using the project for married student and faculty housing.

During the Tuesday night meeting, WTSU vice president Henson said he was contacted last spring. Later in the week he said he was contacted about assuming the loan during mid-summer.

Earney said in his 18 months as insurance director for HUD in Lubbock this could be the first project to be repossessed in a 71-county area.

He expressed disappointment that repossession is a probability.

Nevertheless, Earney said he believes if repossession is necessary and the FHA assumes liability for the loan, he can get the apartment complex on a paying basis. He said he feels he can retrieve the full $1.2 million if the apartments are sold through a bidding procedure.

backing the highway proposal, which has been given approval by the Canyon Chamber.

Jim Lindsey, manager of the Hereford chamber, said no firm stand was really formulated from the meeting of about 35 persons, which was closed to all but Hereford residents.

Lindsey said C.W. "Chili" Smith, district engineer for the Texas Highway Department, explained to those attending the proposals and ramifications of the proposals.

Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Harding of 103 5th Ave. returned recently from Bowie where they attended funeral services for Mrs. A.A. Harding, a former resident of Canyon during the 1940s. Mrs. Harding, Harding's mother, died last week. She is survived by another son, E.P. Harding of 010 5th Ave. in Canyon.

told in a previous meeting held for similar reasons that if U.S. 60 is redesignated an interstate highway it almost certainly will not follow the current route through Hereford.

Lindsey said the general attitude during Thursday's session was one of concern.

"We're not too concerned because we already are in pretty good shape here," he said.

Lindsey said he personally feels Hereford residents oppose the redesignation recommendation.

Several members of the local chamber of commerce and representatives of the Randall County commissioners court were scheduled to attend the Oct. 20 meeting in Ruidoso.

sidered for use in Texas.

The studies have also advanced the possibility of taking the tax assessing and collecting out of school district hands by placing those duties under the county tax assessor-collector, or under new state run offices. This method would close the doors of all school tax offices with money to be distributed back to the schools on a per student basis.

According to committee findings, the amount required per student by different school districts varies greatly, usually depending on total enrollment. It was said that while the Amarillo schools spend an estimated $500 per student, some smaller schools need as much as $1,200 to operate.

"This difference in funds needed could cause major problems," said one spokesman close to the problem.

According to a ruling last year by three federal judges in San Antonio, the present method is unconstitutional, hence the present hearing before the U.S. Supreme Court in Washington.

The Texas case had been filed in 1968 when the father of five children attending school in Edgewater claimed that his school district offered inferior educational facilities because of its location in a predominately Latin-American section of San Antonio.

After the three-judge panel made its ruling, the case was appealed to the high court by Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin. Martin claimed the state would have to raise an additional $2.4 billion each year in order to bring the per pupil average up even with that of the wealthier districts.

The state's attorney also said the three-judge federal ruling had taken away a part of the state's freedom to govern themselves. Martin apparently opposed any alternate plan that would result in taking from the rich to give to the poorer districts. He claimed that any such move would result in lower education standards in the wealthier areas, while admitting that poorer areas would improve.

According to one report, Texas has the second highest difference of spending record between the rich and the poor districts, with only Wyoming showing more disparity.

The final ruling to be handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court,

The Prairie poll covered only the presidential race.

Commenting on the poll results, Peter Peterson of the WTSU history department, said WTSU students and faculty members are politically aligned with other universities in southern states.

He cited a Seymour Lipset poll which appeared in a recent national magazine as saying that McGovern was favored on campuses in the West, Midwest and East. He said the poll showed Nixon leading student opinion in the Southern colleges.

According to Peterson, the Lipset poll indicated Nixon was favored by 49 percent of the professors polled nationwide and McGovern was favored by 46 percent.

Gallup and Harris only in their basic purpose, many other firms and communications media have claimed the poll.

Politicians have found that poll results whether based on accurate polls or inaccurate polls can be manipulated in their favor.

"If a politician gets his own pollster and he says he's 40 per cent ahead, then the politician hopes for the band-wagon effect," Dr. Oppe said.

In some cases, he said, polls which have been conducted for a candidate and which indicate he is losing ground or behind will be suppressed.

"Polls have become a tool of Madison Avenue, I'm afraid," he

Building Permits Reach $103,000

The City of Canyon in September issued six building permits with construction costs totalling $103,000.

According to building inspector E. A. Collie, the permits were for four new homes, one residential addition and one storage building.

This compares with $22,000 in construction costs in the same month a year ago. In 1970, when cafeteria expansion was done at West Texas State University, the total was $1,004,735.

said, "to use as a weapon in a campaign. That's one reason I don't trust them so much anymore."

One particular problem Dr. Oppe cited in polling this year's constituency appears to be what he termed a "sleeper effect."

The professor explained that recent polls have shown a large number of persons polled are Fraley flipped a halfback pass to Kenneth Sellers in the end zone for the touchdown and Rivera again kicked to make the score 14-7 with about nine minutes remaining in the half.

Following another exchange of downs, the Buffs took over on their own 20 with 5:36 remaining in the half and drove 80 yards in 14 plays to score on Schleider's first touchdown run, this one for three yards.

Rivera's kick was good again and the Buffs led 21-7 at halftime.

An Aggie fumble early in the second half set the scene for the next Buff score and in just two plays, the final of which was a 41-yard Mike Wartes pass to Kenneth Sellers, the West Texans had scored again with about 13 minutes remaining in the quarter.

The tough Buff defense held the New Mexicans and forced them to punt on the next series of downs and from then on the Buffs scored every time they got the ball.

Scoring during the second half was accomplished by Jimmy Lisle on a five-yard pitchout run around left end, Fraley around right end on a 42-yard run, twice by Schleider on runs of 15 and 91 yards and a Ron Leach run for 18 yards.

The final Aggie score was made with 5:51 remaining in the game on a Doug Baker pass to Dennis Ware for 8 yards.

If WTSU held a commanding lead on the scoreboard, they also held a large bulge in the statistics department.

The Buffaloes made 23 first downs compared to 18 for the Aggies.

The West Texans tallied 672 yards on offense.

According to the farm official, the extra dry condition in Randall County is creating problems for wheat pastures. Brazzil said he was "concerned" about the condition of many wheat pastures. He said some pastures had been planted and others not planted. "The wheat is barely able to survive. It's been extra dry in Randall County," Brazzil said. "If we don't have wheat we don't buy cattle to put on it."

According to Brazzil, the amount of irrigated pasture in the county is limited, with the bulk of the wheat grazing dependent upon moisture from the skies.

regardless of the outcome, will have some effect on the state of Texas and its citizens, said one spokesman. "Some changes in funding are eminent regardless of the ruling."

In the tax office in Canyon, Kuykendall said he had no idea of what impact a court ordered change in funding methods would have on Canyon schools. "We'll just have to wait and see what develops," he said.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs of the Canyon schools said it was not possible to determine how a court ruling would affect the school system here until it was known what strings would be attached and how much latitude was given state legislators.

"They are approaching it in about 15 different ways," said Jacobs, who added that about the only thing anyone could do at present was to wait and see what the final ruling would be.

Miss Pegg, Hair Solemnize Marriage

Miss Frances Sue Pegg became the bride of Charles Eugene (Sandy) Hair in a double-ring ceremony taking place Saturday evening in the Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel, with the Rev.

Ron Fellemdede officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Pegg of Route 2, Canyon.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Hair, 1710 8th Ave.

Vows were repeated before an altar centered with a floral arrangement of white gladioli, lavender mums, and purple asters atop a white column pedestal. A pair of arched candelabra entwined with jade foliage was placed on either side. Aisles were decorated with candelabra garlanded with greenery and purple ribbon streamers.

Selections of music played by organist Susan Lindeman and sung by soloist Steve Hilton included "Für Elise," "Edelweiss," "Love Theme from Dr. Zhivago," "Do I Love You," "Because," and "If I Loved You."

Poetry readings by Travis Dean were also woven into the ceremony.

Guests were registered by Miss Kay Nester.

Miss Karen Ann Pegg, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Cynthia Ann Hair, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Both wore floor-length gowns of deep purple silk crepe accented with lavender braid at neck, bottom of long fitted sleeves, and at belted waistline. Softly gathered skirts dipped to a natural waist in back, marked with a bow. Their headpieces were made of three looped braids of the dress material accented by a lavender braid. They carried bouquets centered with a purple votive cup and candle, encircled with lavender poms and purple statice, and fastened with velvet ribbon and streamers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of candlelight sata peau designed with Victorian neckline and fitted empire bodice. Long, sheer full sleeves were caught at the wrist by deep cuffs with ruffled edge extending over the hand. Ruffles extended over the shoulders to form a plastron enhanced by Venice lace. The A-line skirt fell softly to a flounced hem, sweeping to back fullness cascading into a chapel-length train. Her chapel length veil of illusion was caught to a toque of satin and embroidered lace. She carried a bridal cascade of purple asters, stephanotis and baby's breath fastened with purple velvet ribbon and long streamers. A baby locket, given to her at birth, was her "something old," and the groom's mother's ivory garter was her "something borrowed."

The bride gave her mother a lifted flower from the bridal bouquet with a kiss on the way to the altar and repeated the gesture to the groom's mother after the ceremony on the way out of the church.

Canyon Teachers Attend Lubbock Reading Seminar

Mrs. Hazel Sunderman and Mrs. Nadene Lyles recently attended a reading conference of the Texas Association for Improvement of Reading held at Escadado High School in Lubbock. The conference was attended by some 1,100 administrators, reading teachers, librarians, and classroom teachers of the Panhandle area.

Mrs. Sunderman, Canyon Junior High School librarian, is currently serving as 2nd vice-president of the state association, and, in that capacity, serves as a consultant to 12 reading conferences held annually throughout the state in conjunction with universities that are engaged in teacher-training programs. Mrs. Lyles, Texas history teacher of CHS, is vice-president of the area organization of TAIR, and as such is a member of the state board of directors.

TAIR is an affiliate of the Texas State Teachers' Association and has been in existence 26 years, developing innovative techniques and methods for teaching within the classroom and as an extra-curricular activity. The West Texas University area organization recently marked a 20-year anniversary and is organized to provide instruction and dialog among educators of the Panhandle.

A portion of the Lubbock conference was an explanation of the federal Right-to-Read Program, designed to eliminate functional illiteracy in the United States by 1980. Texas has been selected as a pilot-program state, and, within the next few months, selected teachers from over the state will meet for concentrated training sessions in teaching by various reading methods. TAIR and these local faculty members will be active in promoting the program in this area and throughout the state.

University Club Hears Cannon

The University Study Club met Friday afternoon in the Girl Scout house for their regular October meeting. Mrs. Dwayne Howard, secretary, called the roll, to which each member responded with a word suggesting America to her.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dudley Moore, Mrs. Eugene Bonds, and Mrs. Bill Cooper.

Dr. Tom Cannon, professor of psychology at West Texas State University, was introduced as the speaker by Mrs. Myron Dees. He talked on patriotism as sense of duty, illustrating his point with the story of Gen. Dean, prisoner of the enemy in the Korean War.

Following the program, guests were introduced as Mrs. Jimmie Green, Mrs. James Underwood, Mrs. James Irlbeck, and Mrs. David Wheeler. Final plans for the home tour were discussed.

The next meeting of the study club will be a Twentieth Anniversary Tea in the home of Mrs. Bill Davis, 26 Hunsley Hills Blvd., at 2:30 p.m. on Nov. 5.

Balladeers Set Sing-in At University

Popular balladeer Helen Reddy and "down-home" singer-composer Mac Davis come together in concert Oct. 22 at West Texas State University.

The Australian songstress and the Texas country-folk performer will appear at 8 p.m. in the WTSU Fieldhouse. The concert is the second offering on the Student Activities Council's entertainment series.

Miss Reddy emerged from the Australian Outback to national fame in the United States with her hit tune, "I Don't Know How to Love Him," the tender ballad sung by Mary Magdalene in the Broadway hit, "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Since making the top of the charts, Miss Reddy has appeared on television variety shows and has toured from coast to coast.

Miss Reddy was born into a show business family and was singing and performing at an early age. She achieved wide popularity with her own show on the Australian Broadcasting Commission in which she appeared twice a week with a 22-piece orchestra.

Winning the Australian Bandstand International contest sponsored by Phillips-Mercury records brought the singer to New York.

"Being a star in Australia is like being governor of the moon...you must make it in America first," she says.

She now has an album out on Capitol Records in which she is featured in her own arrangements of tunes by such performers as Van Morrison, Leon Russell and Tim Hardin.

In addition to her singing career, Miss Reddy is pursuing a degree in parapsychology at the University of California.

Described as a "pied piper with guitar," Mac Davis, a native of Lubbock, has spun out an impressive number of popular tunes including Elvis Presley's recordings of "Memories," "In the Ghetto" and "Don't Cry Daddy," O. C. Smith's "Friend, Lover, Woman, Wife" and "Daddy's Little Man," and Glen Campbell's "Within My Memory," "Everything a Man Could Ever Need" and "I'll Paint You a Song."

The Texas singer began his musical career in a church choir and expanded in college, where he says he majored in "beer and rock and roll." He formed a band and played the fraternity circuit from Alabama to the Carolinas and Florida.

His two albums, "Mac Davis, Song Painter" and "I Believe in Music" have done well on music charts. He has appeared on top television shows and earned standing ovations in nightclubs, concert halls and college campuses.

Tickets for the Reddy-Davis show, priced at $4 a person are on sale at the Activities Center box office. Admission is free to WTSU students with entertainment cards.

Mail orders may be addressed to the Student Activities Council, W.T. Station, Box 825, Canyon, 79015.

Needle Club Celebrates Association Of 37 Years

The ladies of the Workbasket Needle Club were in a reminiscent mood.

The sumptuous luncheon was consumed, and now they sat about the table—laid with imported cutwork linen cloth, centered with giant dahlia arrangement in crystal urn, set with bavarian china, ruby cut-glass goblets, and gleaming hollow sterling—and talked about the events and acquaintances of their past.

Most of the women gathered last Wednesday in the country home of Mrs. Ora Cox were grandmothers now. They would pass pictures of their grandchildren back and forth, compliment each other on a new recipe, or display a new piece of handwork or china painting. One of them would soon be leaving for an extensive tour in Europe—another was modeling a smashing sun hat made of a large plastic bottle and yards of pink net.

They were old friends—some of them had been together for 37 years or more.

Their needlework club was originated as the Ralph Home Demonstration Club on Sept. 25, 1935, by a group of homemakers living south of Canyon around Ralph Switch. Miss Allie Dozier was then the Randall County Home Demonstrator. Four of those present had been charter members: Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Mildred Gooch, Mrs. Elma Howell, and Mrs. Goldie Persons.

The mid-thirties in the Panhandle were lean years, but they had been young wives and mothers, full of high spirits and determination to bring the "finer things" of living to their families in the small scattered frame homes on the dusty plains.

"I can remember when it was my turn to have club, I didn't have a dining-room table. But I spread a nice, white linen tablecloth over an old stove and set out my best crystal and china," one of the group recalled. Another could remember hanging wet towels at the window to keep the house fresh on simmering, dust-blown days. Laundering by itself required hard work and strategy. Almost everyone made her own lie soap, but some were better at it than others. One woman had washed clothes in the evening, stored them overnight in a cool place, then risen early to hang them out and dry before the wind rose in the late morning hours.

The events of the Ralph Home Demonstration Club had always been looked forward to with pleasure. An issue of the Canyon News noted that on July 10, 1936, "A Prosperity tea in honor of Ralph Wardrobe Achievement Day was held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Berum. . . . A very interesting selection of quilts, spreads, and handwork were displayed; also the clothes closet of Mrs. Berum was inspected and proved to be the center of attraction."

From the outset, members of the club had taken pride in their culinary arts. On the first birthday of the founding of their club, there had been a Pantry Achievement program held in the home of Mrs. H.G. Persons. A newspaper article recorded that "After a thorough inspection of a well-filled pantry and the lovely new home of the hostess," the guests were served chicken salad sandwiches, mincemeat tarts topped with whipped cream, coffee and mints—with an anniversary cake to boot!

In 1947 the members voted to become a needle club and the name was changed to the Workbasket Needle Club, meeting each second and fourth Wednesdays of September through May. A Thanksgiving supper with husbands as honored guests and a Christmas Tree party were, and still are, held each year.

Club membership has always been limited to 18 members. The present membership includes Mmes. Vestal Black, Ora Cox, Lillie Byars, Cortez Dowlen, Elta Erwin, Doris Foster, Myrtle Gist, Mildred Gooch, Sally Hill, Elma Howell, Flossie Johnston, Roma Payne, Goldie Persons, Bess Reynolds, Helen Reynolds Clara Lou Slack, Margaret Wilkinson, and Miss Lou Ella Patterson.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, present president of the Needle Club, was a former Home Demonstration agent and advisor to the group for many years. She had begun her work in Randall County, young and inexperienced.

"I used to be embarrassed to give demonstrations before some of the women in the clubs around the county—they knew so much more than I," she confessed.

All teachers, college and school personnel, and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Salad Luncheon Is Scheduled

Greeks Band To Benefit Girls' Town

A new Greek project to benefit Girls' Town at Whiteface was revealed by Max Sunderman, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, this week in conjunction with the WTSU Homecoming celebration. Lambda Chi Alpha, Delta

Zeta, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Alpha Tau Omega will each donate to Girls' Town $1.00 for each touchdown made by the Buffs and $10 for each game won by the Buffs during the season, retroactively to the beginning.

The project, which might act as a morale booster for the Buffs as well as benefit Girls' Town, was to be advertised in a sign in Buffalo Bowl during the homecoming game and thereafter, according to Sunderman.

Oil Companies Sponsor Grants

Two oil company foundations Wednesday gave the West Texas State University a total of $2,000 in grants for use in the School of Business' computer science and data processing program.

The grants, each for $1,000, were presented by the Atlantic Richfield Foundation of Dallas and the Amoco Production Foundation, Inc. of Tulsa, Okla.

Len Dashed, personnel and employment relations representative of Atlantic Richfield, who was on campus Wednesday interviewing students, presented his company's check at a luncheon.

Accepting the grant were Dr. James P. Cornette, university president, Dr. Eldon Lewis, dean of the business school; Dr. Philip J. Gensler, head of the Department of Computer and Information Systems; Jack Edmondson, director of placement; and Durwood Henderson, director of the university computer center.

"West Texas State is one of the few universities in the Southwest with an undergraduate degree in the computer science field," Dashed said.

In a letter to Dr. Cornette announcing Amoco's grant, J.M. Allen, Jr., executive director of Amoco Production Foundation, said:

"Persons knowledgeable in the field of computers and data processing are most complementary about the work you and your associates are doing, and we are very pleased to lend support to your efforts."

Amoco requested that half of its grant be allocated for scholarships to computer science students.

Pleasantview HD Club Meets

Other members who attended were Mmes. Harold Dillehay, Alan Downing, John Jennings, Albert Meyers, Baline Hufnagle, J.H. Barrett, Bill Head, Martha Goodman, Jean Wright, Christler Crain, Edgar Robinson, Lucille Robinson, Jean Robinson, and Betty Irlbeck.

Happy Cowboys Set Fight For State

The Happy Cowboys, ranked fourth in the state and well on their way to the district championship, had an open date this weekend and have been using the calm period to sharpen offensive plays and to rest up the sick and injured.

During the past week, coach Robert Criswell has kept the daily workouts light, going to padded contact only on two days.

On Thursday, the 26-man squad devoted the practice hour to point after kicking, play drills and running. According to Criswell, "Keeping them up for an open date" is much more difficult than preparing for a game.

Criswell said the boys, winners of four consecutive 2-B conference games after dropping their opener to Class A Claude, were in good mental condition. It was apparent Thursday that the team was serious about their football, with the only non-serious moments coming during a picture taking session.

One player, out with an injured elbow for the past three games, and two under-the-weather athletes are expected to be back in action in time for next week's encounter with Wilson.

The injured Andy Hand, 240-pound guard, attended the practice session Thursday but did not take part. "I'll be ready for Wilson," the anxious youth told The News.

Kicking with the wind Thursday, Mark Hargrave and Johnny Payne showed consistent accuracy at putting the pigskin through the uprights at seven yards, but later, from some 25 yards out, the average fell considerably.

The first offensive team looked sharp during their moves upfield, mixing running and passing plays at a ratio of about three to one. The Cowboys have been vicious on the ground this year, running up more than 500 yards on one outing.

Hargrave, who could easily pass for a fullback, has directed the Cowboy offense throughout the season and apparently has done a few things right.

The stocky 150-pound quarterback has had help from more than one teammate says coach Criswell. "They've all done a real good job. We couldn't play with just 11 men."

Much of the help has come from a starting line that averages 200 pounds, or 215 pounds if you dismiss the ends who hit the scales at 155 and 160.

The bulk of the ground yardage has been garnered by a pair of hard running halfbacks, Chris Pearson and Greg Looney. Both have spent each Friday night eating up big chunks of yardage and tiptoeing into the endzone.

Looney, a 145 pound junior, and Pearson, a 185 pound senior, are backed up by 170-pound sophomore fullback Johnny Payne.

Pass catching chores fall to any of the three running backs as well as to ends Gary Barnett and Lonnie Tackitt. Barnett is a senior hitting 160 pounds and Tackitt, a sophomore, weighs 155.

Handling the center spot chores is Rocky Williams, a 195-pound sophomore. That means opponents will have to weave their way over, through, under or around that big boy for a couple of years more.

The real meat of the massive line sits to either side of big Morrison, in the persons of tackles Don Lee and Jim Hand, and guards Stuart Tackitt and the previously mentioned Andy Hand.

The 240-pound Andy Hand is a junior but the 220-pound Lee, 225-pound Jim Hand and 170-pound Tackitt are in their last year at the school.

Two other backs, Stan Morrison and Teddy Offield have seen considerable action this year and have come through with flying colors.

After the 30-19 loss to Claude on Sept. 8, the Cowboys have waded through four opponents, New Hope, Whiteface, Amherst, and Nazareth by scores of 27-0, 50-0, 64-0 and 35-6.

Of the remainder of the season, the upcoming game with Wilson is billed as "the big one." After that home encounter, the Cowboys meet Lazbuddie at home, Matador on the road, and end up with two home games against Sundown and Meadow in that order. All of the remaining games are against district opponents.

Other members of the team who coach Criswell says are capable of handling their assignments when needed include:

155, center. The coaches and players were obviously not too happy about having an open date in the middle of the season. They want to play football. But, looking back on the previous games, it might be said that somebody got a break... which ever team would have been going up against the Cowboys had the date been filled.

Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

Kids Inc., Teams In Action Today

Four of Canyon's five Kids Inc. football teams are scheduled for action this weekend with two playing at home.

Today at home, the Cougars meet Sunrise at 1:30 p.m., and the Cyclones take on Maverick at 2:30 p.m.

That same day, the Purple People Eaters travel to Bonham Junior High in Amarillo to play Ridgecrest in a battle set for 3:30 p.m.

The Headhunters play Belmar for the league championship Tuesday at Austin Junior High at 7:30 p.m. The Pee Wee Eagles are idle until Sunday, Oct. 22.

The Pee Wee Eagles traveled to Avondale Thursday afternoon and downed that team by a score of 14-0 in an informal scrimmage session.

Scoring came on a 30-yard run by John Fortenberry, a 25-yarder by Kevin Webber, and then two points was tacked on by defenseman Robbie Owens who tackled an Avondale ballcarrier behind the goal line.

Two extra point tries failed. The bantam Eagles had defeated the same team by a score of 14-6 in scheduled play earlier in the season. Coach Max Brummett called the game the "best of the season" for his boys.

FBI Eyes Canyon Creek Apartment Deal

BY CARROLL WILSON
The FBI is investigating the general partnership involved in the construction and ownership of Canyon Creek Apartments. Federal assistant district attorney Robert Wilson of Lubbock said Thursday the FBI is looking into the circumstances surrounding the construction and now apparent failure of the apartment complex, located on a 7.8 acre site in north Canyon. West Texas State University officials, who were asked to assume the $1.2 million loan on the complex to turn the apartments into married student and faculty housing, rejected the offer Thursday afternoon.

Financial vice president Virgil Henson said the administration had decided not to accept the offer of the apartments' owners. Two partners in the complex met with university officials and Canyon apartment owners to discuss the offer Tuesday night. Several local apartment owners said they felt university acquisition of the apartments would constitute unfair competition. Deed records in the Randall County clerk's office indicate Canyon Creek Apartments are owned by a general partnership of the following: Hunsley Hills Developers, Inc. of Canyon, Frank H. Jones of Amarillo, John W. Notestine of Amarillo, Stanley K. Davis of Amarillo, Sam W. Davis of Amarillo, Guyon H. Saunders of Amarillo, Ed A. Fancher of Amarillo, Dan B. Flemming of Amarillo, S. Lee Napier of Amarillo and William F. Gunn of Fort Worth. Stanley Davis and Fancher met with university officials and local apartment owners Tuesday night and said that due to financial losses they were forced to offer the university assumption of an FHA-insured loan or face

foreclosure. They intimated that if the mortgage of the property was forced to foreclose and the loan became the responsibility of FHA, Canyon's economy would suffer greatly due to a probable loss of FHA insured loans for housing here. Don Earney, director of the district insuring office for the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Lubbock, said Friday foreclosure of the Canyon Creek Apartment loan would have no effect on other loans applied for in Canyon. "It will have absolutely no effect on other people in Canyon," he said.

FHA officials in Lubbock said they were first approached about insuring a loan for construction of the Canyon apartments in 1969 and worked with the partners in meeting FHA specifications. Deed records and records filed with the FHA indicate many of the partners in the apartment project were also involved in making the loan for construction, designing the complex and construction itself. Notestine and Jones, two of the partners, were also architects for the job. Stanley Davis and Sam Davis, two other partners, are associated with Panhandle Engineers and Contractors, Inc. of Amarillo, contractor for the job.

Guyon Saunders, Ed A. Fancher, J. Dawson Little and S. Lee Napier, also partners, are associated with Ordway-Saunders of Amarillo, a company which is agent for Farm and Home Savings Association, the firm which loaned $1.196 million to build the apartments. Fancher is listed on one deed filed in the county clerk's office here as a vice president of Farm and Home Savings Association. Hunsley Hills Developers, Inc., a partner in the complex, furnished the land upon which the apartments were constructed. The business affiliations of Flemming and Gunn had not been established by late Saturday.

Earney said a partnership consisting of architects, contractors, land owners and officers of the lending company is "not really all that unique." A deed of trust filed in Randall County indicates Farm and Home Savings Association loaned the general partners $1,196,800 at 8 1/2 percent interest for 40 years. The deed is dated Sept. 22, 1970. According to Earney, the FHA insured 90 percent of the loan. Gene Whitney, underwriter in the Lubbock FHA office, said various paperwork submitted by the partnership to obtain FHA insurance was checked for accuracy, but no investigation was made of the partnership. The Canyon Creek Apartment developers were required to produce feasibility studies showing a need existed in Canyon for the 100-unit complex and that a sufficient future need would exist to justify the construction. Whitney said the feasibility studies proved current and future need. He said one of the bases upon which the studies were made was enrollment at West Texas State University. University enrollment peaked at just less than 8,000 students in 1970 after years of continuous growth. In the fall of 1971 and 1972, enrollment dipped to a current level of about 6,500. Davis and Fancher, during Tuesday night's discussion in Canyon, placed primary fault for their inability to keep the apartments financially solvent on declining enrollment at WTSU.

The loan insured by FHA and made by Farm and Home Savings Association is commonly known as a "no-recourse loan." A rider on the deed of trust filed here explains in legal terms just what a no-recourse loan is: "...in the event of default under the terms hereof, the holder shall take no action against the maker personally except such as may be necessary to subject to the satisfaction of the indebtedness the property described herein and any chattels appurtenant to the use thereof." In lay terms, that means the lending company, Farm and Home Savings, will not hold the general partners in the apartment complex responsible if payments cannot be met. Rather, the FHA will assume responsibility for the apartments and the remainder of the loan. Earney said a similar rider is attached to each deed of trust filed in connection with an FHA insured loan. He said federal statutes require the no-recourse clause be added even on houses insured by FHA.

"I frankly think we should have recourse on a loan when someone just walks off and leaves his house or anything," Earney said. He said with the no-recourse clause, would-be mortgagees, since they are not held responsible personally, could "walk off" from an FHA insured home and "leave us holding the bag."

Construction on the Canyon Creek Apartments began Sept. 23, 1970. Construction was completed in September 1971. Land for the project came through Hunsley Hills Developers, Inc., a Canyon corporation listing W.E. Hunsley as vice president and Arch Hunsley as secretary. A warranty deed filed here Sept. 22, 1970 indicates the corporation sold the 7.89 acres of land to the Canyon Creek Apartments partnership for $10. Whitney said the land was valued by FHA at $86,100, with this price including all necessary improvements—water lines, sewer lines, sidewalks and so on. The $86,100 is about 26 cents per square foot. An option to purchase filed with the FHA by Hunsley Hills Developers, Inc., indicates a price of 59 cents per square foot as the land price. A certificate of actual costs filed with the FHA by the apartments partners Sept. 19, 1972, indicates $1,218,679 has been paid in cash so far for construction and fees. Actual construction cost is listed as $949,496. Earney said the contractor—in (See FBI, Page 5)

VOL. 4 NO. 6 CANYON, TEXAS SUNDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1972 10 PAGES 1 SECTION 10 CENTS

Pot Use In Wreck Alleged

A $100,000 damage suit, which alleges one of the defendants was under the influence of marijuana at the time damages were incurred, has been filed against two South Amarillo residents. The suit, which concerns the May 1972 death of an Amarillo girl, was filed last week in 47th District Court in Randall County.

Wilford S. Brashears and his wife, Jacqueline, who live in Potter County filed the suit against Kim Janna Peres and Richard S. Peres of South Amarillo.

The suit alleges that on or about May 29, 1972, the Brashears' daughter, Lisa, was a passenger in a car driven by Kim Peres when the car was involved in a one-vehicle accident on U.S. 183 north of Leander in Williamson County. The accident resulted in the death of Lisa.

The suit alleges that Lisa and Kim Peres were returning to Amarillo from school in Austin. Kim Peres was negligent, the suit says, because she failed to take proper precautions to avoid the accident and because she was "driving an automobile upon a public highway while under the influence of narcotic drugs...marijuana." The suit also alleges that Richard Peres is negligent because, as owner of the vehicle, he allowed Kim Peres to drive "when he knew she was an unfit and incompetent driver because she was youthful and inexperienced and otherwise unqualified."

The Brashears' suit seeks $10,000 for the suffering of Lisa, who they say lived about one hour after the accident. They seek $15,000 for funeral and burial expenses and $2,000 for medical and ambulance expenses. In addition, they seek $30,000 due to the loss "of the valuable services of their daughter which by reason of the fact that Mrs. Brashears is an invalid."

Exemplary damages sought total $50,000.

Charlotte Tompkins, left, was named Homecoming Queen at Canyon High School Friday night during pre-game activities before the Eagles and Palo Duro Dons commenced battle in Kimbrough Stadium. The three other finalists in the queen contest were Cindy Williams, Teddi Crager and Kathy Dees.

Deltah Roberts of Tulia was named Miss WTSU Friday night also. She was chosen from a field of 17 beauties at the university and crowned during final judging at the activities center.

Harvest Picture Said Average

Despite the fact that grain sorghum harvesting is only about two weeks along and being held back by unmatured crops, the maize picture looks good for Randall County farmers and feeders, agriculture sources said this week. Randall County Agent John Brazzil told The News that harvest yields "are increasing each day and looks like the beginning of a pretty good crop."

According to Brazzil, dryland crops are showing good yields in the areas where some rain was received. While not average, some dryland yields have been running from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds per acre. The rainless areas will produce almost no crop at all, said the county agent, but yields were expected to be good in most regions of the county. On irrigated land there is no definite pattern yet, said Brazzil, but the 1972 crop should be at least average, possibly much better than average.

The big problem at this stage of the harvest is a high amount of moisture. The crop is still "too green" with slow drying a detriment to final harvesting operations. In saying that he thought most growers were "pleased" with this year's crop, Brazzil noted some reports indicated yields of from 6,000 to 7,000 pounds of grain sorghum per acre.

The operators of two grain elevators in Randall County agreed with the county agent. Both said it was too early to make any solid predictions about the crop but each voiced the opinion that the 1972 yield should match or better the county average.

One operator termed the crop's quality as "very good" and agreed that growers were not unhappy at this point. Brazzil also said that he had received favorable reports from the operators of feedlots in regard to this year's grain crop.

Speaking of other county harvest outlooks, Brazzil said one or two soybean producers had reported yields of 46 bushels to the acre. The county average would be about 30 bushels, said the county agent. He added that only about 2,000 acres in Randall County are used for growing soybeans. In Umbarger, some sugar beet growers have started digging operations and report sugar content running about 15 percent, an unusually good percentage for this early in the harvest season.

Brazzil said that the harvest, running about 20 tons per acre so far, would be strung out over a long period of time with digging to be done as the sugar plant needs shipments. This, Brazzil said, was to be done this year instead of total crop harvesting (See HARVEST, Page 5)

How Accurate Are Polls About Political Event?

This may be the year of the politician, but it's also the year of the public opinion poll. Every major candidate has hired his own polling firm, two of the nation's largest turn out new predictions week after week and across the country newspapers, radio and television stations are conducting straw polls.

With the results from these polls often conflicting while bombarding Americans almost daily, wherein lies the truth? Can polls be trusted?

Dr. Hubert Oppe, chairman of the department of sociology at West Texas State University and instructor in public opinion classes, believes that polls conducted under controlled conditions are at best fairly accurate indicators of public opinion at a given moment in time.

Straw polls, he feels, are just what the name implies — "straws in the wind." "Straw polls are very inaccurate," he said. "They don't have any of the built-in guarantees of objectivity."

The proliferation of polls this year of the general election is viewed with disdain by Dr. Oppe. "The whole polling thing has been blown all out of proportion," he said. "Everybody thinks he can conduct a poll, that all he has to do is go around and ask people what they think."

To be accurate, Dr. Oppe says, the pollster must insure a representative sample is obtained. And, even then, major pollsters like Gallup and Harris concede a three per cent margin of error. "When Gallup polls, he asks 1500 people and they get a representative sample as they can get," he said. In compiling his poll, for example, Gallup has studies which indicate that people in certain socio-economic categories have a propensity to vote a certain way. His poll is based on the probability that people with similar backgrounds will also vote in similar ways.

Gallup pollsters then travel throughout the country contacting a predetermined number of people in pre-established categories in an effort to come up with a representative feeling of opinion which can be generalized for the American Public at large.

If the categories of people polled is not representative of the American public the poll will be inaccurate. "When Truman was running for office in '48, the Literary Digest or one of the magazines only used the telephone to obtain a sampling," he said. "They called many people and were still wrong because they ignored the lower socio-economic class which didn't have phones but were in the corner of Truman."

Brown Spits Farthest To Become Champion

The old-time spitters didn't compete Saturday morning and the younger men took home the loot as the World Championship Spitting Contest was held in Canyon. Weyman Brown, with a ballooning jaw, grinned ear to ear as he accepted first place $25 prize money from Canyon News publisher Troy Martin.

Brown spit a distance of 16 feet 4 inches to win the distance contest and hit the small brass spittoon at a 10-foot distance square in the center on his first try to win the first place money. Wes Bourn, 2403 15th Ave., won second place with a 15 feet 8 inch distance spit and a second try hit at the spittoon. Third place money of $10 went to Larry Duggan with a 12 foot 11 inch spit and a second try miss. The only other competitor in the spitting contest was Jack Flippin of 3721 Langtry in Amarillo.

Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson, himself sporting a chaw of tobacco in his jaw, wielded the tape measure in determining the winners. The spitting contest was sponsored by The Canyon News in an effort to attract attention to the downtown area in Canyon and to promote community spirit.

Buffaloes Freeze Aggies 63 to 14

The first shivering coldfront of the fall blew into Canyon Saturday night and froze solid the New Mexico State University Aggies as they lost 63-14 to a completely contrasting well-heated West Texas State University Buffalo team in Kimbrough Stadium.

As the temperature dipped into the 40s, the Buffs hurdled over the 20s, 30s, 40s, 50s and 60s, amassing a gargantuan 672 yards on offense in scoring nine touchdowns while holding the Aggies to two feeble efforts.

Coach Gene Mayfield emptied his bench as everybody from freshmen on up played a good portion of the game. In fact, freshman halfback Rick Schleider scored three touchdowns and tallied more than 140 yards rushing to lead the Buff ground game.

Three Buffaloes tallied more than 100 yards rushing — Schleider, Billy Pritchett and Cole Fraley. Schleider was credited early in the fourth quarter of action with the second longest run from scrimmage in the history of the school — 91 yards, equalled only by Rocky Thompson who ran the ball 99 yards from scrimmage during the 1970 season against Wichita State University. It was a disheartening sixth straight loss for the Aggies but it extended the Buff win record to three with two losses this season. The Buffaloes scored in every quarter Saturday night as the defenseless Aggies were swept from their feet time after time. The first half of action Saturday night was typically exciting Buff football.

The West Texans made their initial score with a one touchdown disadvantage late in the first quarter. New Mexico State scored on their initial series of downs after a 64-yard drive in 14 plays with Reggie Gray going over for the score.

Driving 55 yards in 9 plays with three first downs, the Buffs sent Pritchett one yard into paydirt with 4:48 showing on the clock. An Arcadio Rivera kick tied up the score. Unable to move after a series of downs in the second quarter, the Aggies punted and set up the second Buff score. (See BUFFS, Page 5)

High Court Ruling Could Impact Here

BY JIM SANDS
The U.S. Supreme Court this week began hearing arguments in a Texas school case and the final outcome could greatly affect the Canyon Independent School District and every resident within its boundaries. The case in question involves the method now used to finance schools in the state, with claims being made that use of property tax money results in inferior education for pupils attending school in impoverished areas.

The Texas case is the first such case to reach the high court although an earlier California case first challenged the property tax method of funding public schools. According to the original suit filed in Texas, the present taxing method causes educational deficiencies between children living in poorer districts and those residing in more prosperous districts.

In Canyon, city and school tax assessor-collector Conway Kuykendall said steps are being taken in Austin to provide means of school financing that would comply with any possible ruling against the present method. Kuykendall said he had talked to two members of sub-committees working on the project about alternate plans being made. One member is Orville Click, school assessor-collector for Hereford, the other is Jim Nugent, assessor-collector for the Amarillo School District and the City of Amarillo. The two men hold positions on separate sub-committees. According to Kuykendall, he has been told that proposed changes would be strict, with churches and organizations such as the Boy Scouts not exempt. Changes also call for all residents of a district, including rural areas, to be required to obtain building permits to allow assessor-collectors to better locate and tax all property. Required use of revenue stamps on property deeds was another possibility mentioned in the proposals to allow better evaluation of property. Kuykendall said. According to reports by the committee, the possibility of a state income tax to finance schools was brought into the Austin discussions. This form of school funding is currently being used by some states. A special sales tax, also used by some states, is another of the various methods being considered. (See COURT, Page 5)

U.S. 60 Meet Off Due To Campaigns

A meeting scheduled next weekend in Ruidoso, N.M., to continue discussion of the resignation of U.S. 60 as an interstate highway has become a victim of politics. In a letter received last week by Roland Black, Canyon Chamber of Commerce manager, his counterpart in Roswell wrote that the meeting must be postponed until after the November general election.

This meeting had been called in Ruidoso expressly to talk about the resignation with Sen. Joe Montoya of New Mexico and possibly Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen of Texas. "Because of the increasing involvement of our congressmen in the political campaign, we are forced to postpone our meeting in Ruidoso until after the election date," Ernie Witucki, manager of the Chamber of Commerce in Roswell wrote.

The meeting is to be a continuation of discussions on the status of a proposal that the highway become a part of the nation's interstate system. Meanwhile, Hereford residents met Thursday night in that city to talk over the pros and cons of (See MEETING, Page 5)

Nixon Is Choice At WT

President Nixon has a good following among students and faculty members at West Texas State University if a straw poll conducted recently is indicative of general support. The poll was conducted by staff members of The Prairie, student newspaper, and included only students in political science classes on all levels at the university. The poll also included all faculty members.

A Prairie spokesman said 1,131 students were polled but results were tallied only from 880 of those who are registered voters. In the student poll, President Nixon has a commanding lead with 703 favoring the incumbent. George McGovern, Democratic hopeful for the presidency, polled only 140. Other candidates received 37 votes.

In percentages, Nixon pulled 79.9 per cent of the vote of those polled while McGovern had 16 per cent. A hundred and forty-two faculty members—or about half the faculty—returned questionnaires in the poll. Ninety-nine indicated support for Nixon while 37 said they will vote for McGovern. Seven were (See NIXON, Page 5)

Dr. T. Paige Carruth, vice president for student affairs at West Texas State University, put himself in the dangerous position of a target Saturday in a pie-throwing booth during homecoming carnival activities on campus.

Palo Duro Batters Canyon 34-0

Canyon Coach Ron Mills changed his tactics Friday night to no avail, as the Eagles held to a ground attack almost exclusively in their sixth straight loss of the season.

The Eagles fell to Palo Duro High School's Dons 34-0 before a large homecoming crowd in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

The Eagles, who in their first five outings have taken to the air and tried to sweep, saw a couple of runners unleash new speed not seen before.

Matt Hanson and Gary Gerber found running room time after time—not around the ends of the Dons, but through the center of the line—as they helped the Eagles rack up 258 yards rushing.

The Eagles put up a terrific offensive show, but could never penetrate their opponents' goal lines as they ran 67 plays compared to 44 run by the Dons.

The Eagles also amassed one more first down than the Dons. Palo Duro's swift and evasive Stan Davis and Jim Tipton found holes in the Eagle line as they led their team to 195 yards rushing. The Dons made 168 yards in the air while the Eagles compiled only 20 yards on three completions of 8 tries.

Friday night's first quarter was scoreless as the Eagles dominated play. They were stopped on the Eagle 24 with 1:28 remaining in this period.

Tipton took an Eagle punt all the way from deep in his own territory to the Eagle 23 to set up the first Palo Duro score.

In four plays, the Dons had driven to paydirt and a Paul Roush kick made the score 7-0 with 11:14 remaining in the second quarter.

The second Don touchdown was set up after another series of downs during which the Eagles were unable to move past the Don 43.

The Dons took over possession on their own five yard line. Eight plays later, Quarterback Mark Hall connected on a 39-yard pass to Dennis Watson for this score. Another Roush kick made it 14-0 with 3:38 left in the half.

The Dons scored again after receiving the opening kick-off in the second half. On the first play from scrimmage in the half, Davis took the ball up the middle for a 37-yard gain which put the Dons on Canyon's 28-yard line.

Six plays later, Tipton scampered up the middle for the score which put the Dons ahead 20-0 early in the second half.

The fourth Palo Duro score came with 10:10 remaining in the game. The Eagles had begun another drive downfield when Quarterback Ed Lair took to the air and the pass was intercepted by Tim Black on the 50. Black ran it back all the way for the score and the Dons stretched their lead with the extra point to 27-0.

On the next series of downs, the Eagles began their first serious threat of the night as they drove from their 20 yard line to the Don 6. For four plays, the Eagles tried to score from inside the Don 10.

With just three minutes on the clock, the ball went over on downs and the Palo Duro win was almost on ice.

But, on the next series of downs, the Dons completed a 47-yard pass and a 50-yard pass to go in again to score the final points of the game.

The game ended with the Eagles threatening from the Palo Duro 21.

Hanson was leading ground gainer for the Eagles with 97 yards rushing. Gerber wasn't far behind with 75.

Next weekend the Eagles begin district play for the season as they meet Levelland at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Kimbrough stadium here.

D. Crow Work Featured On Phone Books

By CAROL CRAIN

A lovely scene featuring a rustic rail fence, gnarled oak, and a picturesque meadow of velvet bluebonnets mingled with pale green prickly pear, and the feathery green of the mesquites, as painted by Canyon artist D. Crow will be featured on the telephone books of three city areas this year.

The announcement was made this week by Carol Grassman, representative on the Directory Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas.

One of Mrs. Crow's oils, entitled "Bluebonnet Meadow" was selected to be featured as the full color, cover picture because of the artistic beauty and state-wide acclaim given the artist.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce okayed the cover picture at a called meeting late this week for Canyon's 1973 directory which includes Cleeta and Umbarger. The book will be distributed here in December.

Another 85,000 people will get the Directory tabbed for South Austin. The book in the State Capitol will be larger than the one here and the cover will be close to the size of the Amarillo Telephone Directory. Delivery of these books is set for April, just as the state flower begins to bloom.

In June, five additional counties will receive the directory for "The Texas Hillcountry," home of the bluebonnets in abundance. Included in this area will be Kerrville and Fredericksburg.

Mrs. Crow was delighted at the announcement and very pleased with the cities that had been selected.

For it was in Austin that the

Texas House of Representatives formally recognized her talent in 1971 with a House Resolution honoring her for painting the state flower for some 25 years.

It was also in Austin that she was nominated for the Texas State Artist of the Year 1972 and is now known as the state's official bluebonnet artist. One of her oils now hangs in the private office of the Governor, as a gift to the state.

Mrs. Luci Johnson Nugent said of Mrs. Crow's oils in a personal note to the artist that her paintings "portray a part of Texas that is especially dear to my heart. . . The former White House resident also noted that a

D. Crow is "...such a treasure..."

Mrs. Crow will soon be featured in a book entitled "Artists Who Have Portrayed the American West" by Phil Kovenick of Los Angeles.

She reads daily in search of ideas for titles of each individual picture and is as creative with words as she is with the paint brush. Some of her titles include "Blue Heaven," "Beauty in the Hillcountry," "Bluebonnets Nod in the Sun," "Along the Bluebonnet Trail," "God's Acres," "Deep in the Heart of Texas," and "Bluebonnets: Texas Pride."

Alumni Give 4 Awards

Four awards — two previously announced — were presented at an ex-students luncheon on the West Texas State University campus Saturday.

Presidents special awards went to William Angus Moore and Mrs. Lucille Nance Jones.

Moore was honored for his direction of "TEXAS," a historical drama staged in Palo Duro Canyon through each summer season.

Making the presentations was Wayne Rankin of Plainview who is president of the WTSU Ex-Students Association.

Rankin hailed the musical as one of the largest tourist attractions in the Panhandle and said it provides a rare opportunity for drama students of

West Texas State.

Moore is a member of the WTSU drama department faculty.

In accepting the award he heaped praise on his wife, Mrs. Margaret Moore, who assists him in directing the "TEXAS" production. He said his wife helps him in fulfilling his job on the WTSU faculty and that the university really gets "two for the price of one" for this reason.

Mrs. Jones was honored for making Nance Hereford Ranch east of Canyon available for the use of the university. She was not present and the award was accepted by Dr. James P. Cornette in her behalf.

Distinguished alumni awards went to Dr. Ruth Lowes and Cloyce K. Box. These awards had been announced earlier.

Dr. Lowes is a former member of the WTSU faculty and a women's dormitory is named in her honor. Box is an outstanding businessman.

Prof Receives CPCU Rating

Mrs. Leslie G. Pray, assistant professor of business at West Texas State University, has been awarded the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) designation.

The designation is similar to Certified Public Accountant in accounting or Chartered Life Underwriter in life insurance.

The American Institute for Property and Liability Underwriters, Inc. said 557 persons were awarded the professional insurance designation at the recent annual meeting in New York and Mrs. Pray was one of only 33 women earning the CPCU. The institute said 5,582 took the CPCU examinations last year.

Mrs. Pray of (3700 Virginia) Amarillo has been a WTSU School of Business faculty member since 1966.

The Umbarber 4-H Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Umbarger.

She was named Woman of the Year in 1970-71 by the Insurance Women of Amarillo and was awarded a fellowship to Employers Casualty Co. in Dallas last year.

A 1938 graduate of Amarillo High School, she received a Master of Business Administration Degree from West Texas State in 1966.

STOP! At Turbin's Deep Rock Service Station, otherwise known as the Canyon Travel Center.

WHY? Stop and you'll quickly see as managers Ed McBride and Richard Spear provide you with first class service.

Open from 9:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. SEVEN DAYS A WEEK, they are willing to treat you right.

"We call it the free labor service station," say the youthful managers. "We don't charge our customers any labor costs on such things as oil changes or grease jobs."

And where else in town can you get a flat fixed for only one dollar?

"We don't try to make a killing around here," says Ed. "We try to satisfy our customers so they will come back." "Repeat sales is how we make our money."

"By being friendly to customers and doing our job right — whether it be washing a windshield or changing the oil —

we think we'll get enough business to compensate for our no labor cost policy," says Richard.

The low prices do not stop at labor jobs either. At 29.9 cents for regular and 34.9 cents per gallon for ethyl, you cannot find lower priced gas in Canyon.

"But only the price is cheap," says Ed. "Deep Rock gasoline will compare with any gas on the market." "Better gas for lower prices is what we like to say," says Richard.

Turbin's Deep Rock is located at 2310 23rd St. or across from the Dairy Queen.

"We're right here on the corner where you turn to go to Gibson's," says Ed.

"If you can't stop to see us or have a problem call us, at 655-8850," says Richard.

"TRY US YOU'LL LIKE US," they both say.

this case Panhandle Engineers and Contractors, a partner in the apartments—is allowed by FHA to receive a fee of not more than 10 per cent of that amount.
Architect's fees for the project totalled $41,903 for design. For architectural supervision, the fee totalled $3,550. Ordway-Saunders wrote $15,000 worth of insurance on the property.
FHA examination fee totalled $3,590 and FHA inspection fee totalled $5,984.
Title and recording expense is listed at $3,930. Financing fees are listed as $83,776.
Legal and organizational fees totalled $12,258.
The Canyon Creek Apartments were opened for occupancy on various dates during the fall of 1971.
Earney said his office keeps a running tab on occupancy of FHA insured projects "to spot problem areas."
"We realized the project was getting into trouble some months ago," he said. "We know this kind of project must run from 90 to 95 per cent occupancy to pay."
Earney said the Canyon Creek project was running consistently below an adequate level to make the required loan payments.
Fancher and Davis said Tuesday night the occupancy rate at that time was above 85 per cent.
During the spring, Earney said, he talked telephonically with several partners in the apartments in an attempt to work with them to increase occupancy.
"We talked to them and then we sent some people up there just to make sure they were doing everything they could to get tenants," Earney said. "We didn't see any results so I called them in here. I could see us having to repossess the project."

Earney said the FHA suggested the apartment owners lower rents somewhat to increase occupancy, but the owners refused to do so.
He said that during a meeting in the spring, the owners predicted they would not be able to pay for the project and that FHA would have to repossess it.
Earney said reports from Farm and Home Savings Association indicate the owners had not been making payments on the loan.
The first payment on the loan was due in February of 1972. The last payment on the project was made in April 1972.
A statement of operations for the month of December 1971 indicates a net income of $2,208.
It was either during this period of time in the spring or later during mid-summer when the owners contacted West Texas State University about assuming the $1.2 million loan and using the project for married student and faculty housing.
During the Tuesday night meeting, WTSU vice president Henson said he was contacted last spring. Later in the week he said he was contacted about assuming the loan during mid-summer.
Earney said in his 18 months as insurance director for HUD in Lubbock this could be the first project to be repossessed in a 71-county area.
He expressed disappointment that repossession is a probability.
Nevertheless, Earney said he believes if repossession is necessary and the FHA assumes liability for the loan, he can get the apartment complex on a paying basis. He said he feels he can retrieve the full $1.2 million if the apartments are sold through a bidding procedure.

backing the highway proposal, which has been given approval by the Canyon Chamber.
Jim Lindsey, manager of the Hereford chamber, said no firm stand was really formulated from the meeting of about 35 persons, which was closed to all but Hereford residents.
Lindsey said C.W. "Chili" Smith, district engineer for the Texas Highway Department, explained to those attending the proposals and ramifications of the proposals.
Hereford residents had been told in a previous meeting held for similar reasons that if U.S. 60 is redesignated an interstate highway it almost certainly will not follow the current route through Hereford.
Lindsey said the general attitude during Thursday's session was one of concern.
"We're not too concerned because we already are in pretty good shape here," he said.
Lindsey said he personally feels Hereford residents oppose the redesignation recommendation.
Several members of the local chamber of commerce and representatives of the Randall County commissioners court were scheduled to attend the Oct. 20 meeting in Ruidoso.
Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Harding of 103 5th Ave. returned recently from Bowie where they attended funeral services for Mrs. A.A. Harding, a former resident of Canyon during the 1940s. Mrs. Harding, Harding's mother, died last week. She is survived by another son, E.P. Harding of 010 5th Ave. in Canyon.

and storage.
According to the farm official, the extra dry condition in Randall County is creating problems for wheat pastures. Brazzil said he was "concerned" about the condition of many wheat pastures. He said some pastures had been planted and others not planted. "The wheat is barely able to survive. It's been extra dry in Randall County," Brazzil said. "If we don't have wheat we don't buy cattle to put on it."
According to Brazzil, the amount of irrigated pasture in the county is limited, with the bulk of the wheat grazing dependent upon moisture from the skies.

Court...

sided for use in Texas.
The studies have also advanced the possibility of taking the tax assessing and collecting out of school district hands by placing those duties under the county tax assessor-collector, or under new state run offices. This method would close the doors of all school tax offices with money to be distributed back to the schools on a per student basis.
According to committee findings, the amount required per student varies greatly, usually depending on total enrollment. It was said that while the Amarillo schools spend an estimated $500 per student, some smaller schools need as much as $1,200 to operate.
"This difference in funds needed could cause major problems," said one spokesman close to the problem.
According to a ruling last year by three federal judges in San Antonio, the present method is unconstitutional, hence the present hearing before the U.S. Supreme Court in Washington.
The Texas case had been filed in 1968 when the father of five children attending school in Edgewater claimed that his school district offered inferior educational facilities because of its location in a predominately Latin-American section of San Antonio.
After the three-judge panel made its ruling, the case was appealed to the high court by Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin. Martin claimed the state would have to raise an additional $2.4 billion each year in order to bring the per pupil average up even with that of the wealthier districts.
The state's attorney also said the three-judge federal ruling had taken away a part of the state's freedom to govern themselves. Martin apparently opposed any alternate plan that would result in taking from the rich to give to the poorer districts. He claimed that any such move would result in lower education standards in the wealthier areas, while admitting that poorer areas would improve.
According to one report, Texas has the second highest difference of spending record between the rich and the poor districts, with only Wyoming showing more disparity.
The final ruling to be handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court, Nixon...

Polls...

Gallup and Harris only in their basic purpose, many other firms and communications media have claimed the poll.
Politicians have found that poll results whether based on accurate polls or inaccurate polls can be manipulated in their favor.
"If a politician gets his own pollster and he says he's 40 per cent ahead, then the politician hopes for the bandwagon effect," Dr. Oppé said.
In some cases, he said, polls which have been conducted for a candidate and which indicate he is losing ground or behind will be suppressed.
"Polls have become a tool of Madison Avenue, I'm afraid," he said.

said, "to use as a weapon in a campaign. That's one reason I don't trust them so much anymore."
One particular problem Dr. Oppé cited in polling this year's constituency appears to be what he termed a "sleeper effect."
The professor explained that recent polls have shown a large number of persons polled are undecided, indicating they are either really undecided or unwilling to reveal who they will vote for.
"There are too many sleeper variables this year which the pollsters can't really crack open," Dr. Oppé said. "The outcome will depend on major events between now and election day."

Building Permits Reach $103,000

The City of Canyon in September issued six building permits with construction costs totalling $103,000.
According to building inspector E. A. Collie, the permits were for four new homes, one residential addition and one storage building.
This compares with $22,000 in construction costs in the same month a year ago. In 1970, when cafeteria expansion was done at West Texas State University, the total was $1,004,735.

Bufs...

Fraleigh flipped a halfback pass to Kenneth Sellers in the end zone for the touchdown and Rivera again kicked to make the score 14-7 with about nine minutes remaining in the half.
Following another exchange of downs, the Buffs took over on their own 20 with 5:36 remaining in the half and drove 80 yards in 14 plays to score on Schleider's first touchdown run, this one for three yards.
Rivera's kick was good again and the Buffs led 21-7 at halftime.
An Aggie fumble early in the second half set the scene for the next Buff score and in just two plays, the final of which was a 41-yard Mike Wartes pass to Kenneth Sellers, the West Texans had scored again with about 13 minutes remaining in the quarter.
The tough Buff defense held the New Mexicans and forced them to punt on the next series of downs and from then on the Buffs scored every time they got the ball.

Scoring during the second half was accomplished by Jimmy Lisle on a five-yard pitchout run around left end, Fraleigh around right end on a 42-yard run, twice by Schleider on runs of 15 and 91 yards and a Ron Leach run for 18 yards.
The final Aggie score was made with 5:51 remaining in the game on a Doug Baker pass to Dennis Ware for 8 yards.
If WTSU held a commanding lead on the scoreboard, they also held a large bulge in the statistics department.
The Buffaloes made 23 first downs compared to 18 for the Aggies.
The West Texans tallied 672 yards on offense.

Mrs. Brian Henry Snyder, nee Cindy Brown

Miss Jennings Is Engaged

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Jo Anne Jennings, 146 Loma Linda, and Jimmy Ray Campbell, 232

Miss Jo Anne Jennings

Loma Linda, have been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Jennings of Friona. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Rawls of Odessa.

The wedding will take place on January 12, 1973, in the Congregational Church of Friona.

The bride is a graduate of Dallas Fashion Merchandising College and is now employed at Blackburns in Amarillo as junior sportswear buyer.

Campbell is a graduate of West Texas State University with a degree in industrial education. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. After graduating, he played pro football for several years with the San Diego Chargers. At present he is employed as assistant football coach by West Texas State University.

Miss Brown, Snyder Exchange Vows

Miss Cindy Brown and Brian Henry Snyder exchanged wedding vows in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lotus T. Winn of Shallowater on Friday, Sept. 15. Justice of the Peace Jesse Lee officiated in the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Delano Brown of Shallowater.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollice Henry Snyder of 905 17th Street in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Frank Mayes of Shallowater served as best man and matron of honor.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white bridal satin fashioned in empire style, with high waist, short puffed sleeves, and deep square neckline. Her short veil of gathered tulle fell from a tiny satin pillbox.

A reception followed the ceremony, with Mrs. Lotus T. Winn and Mrs. Jerry Boulard, both of Shallowater, serving as hostesses. Wedding cake and punch were served to guests, who included Mrs. Lonnie Ray Edwards, sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jo Green, sister and brother-in-law of the bride; Frankie and Johnny Brown, brothers of the bride; and parents of both bride and groom.

Six Canyon students pledged social fraternities during the fall rush at West Texas State University.

Samuel Alvarado and Peruvianath Copinath pledged Alpha Tau Omega, and Steve Cataldi and Teddy Trice joined

Miss Pegg, Hair Solemnize Marriage

Miss Frances Sue Pegg became the bride of Charles Eugene (Sandy) Hair in a double-ring ceremony taking place Saturday evening in the Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel, with the Rev.

Ron Fellemede officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Pegg of Route 2, Canyon.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Hair, 1710 8th Ave.

Vows were repeated before an altar centered with a floral arrangement of white gladioli, lavender mums, and purple asters atop a white column pedestal. A pair of arched candelabra entwined with jade foliage was placed on either side. Aisles were decorated with candelabra garlanded with greenery and purple ribbon streamers.

Selections of music played by organist Susan Lindeman and sung by soloist Steve Hilton included "Fur Elise," "Edelweiss," "Love Theme from Dr. Zhivago," "Do I Love You," "Because," and "If I Loved You."

Poetry readings by Travis Dean were also woven into the ceremony.

Guests were registered by Miss Kay Nester.

Miss Karen Ann Pegg, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Cynthia Ann Hair, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

Both wore floor-length gowns of deep purple silk crepe accented with lavender braid at neck, bottom of long fitted sleeves, and at belted waistline. Softly gathered skirts dipped to a natural waist in back, marked with a bow. Their headpieces were made of three looped braids of the dress material accented by a lavender braid. They carried bouquets centered with a purple votive cup and candle, encircled with lavender poms and purple statice, and fastened with velvet ribbon and streamers.

Lynn Salmon was best man, and Gary Hair, brother of the bridegroom, was the groomsman. Ushers were Steve Russell and Calvin Yarbrough. Tim Hair, also a brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of candlelight sata peau designed with Victorian neckline and fitted empire bodice. Long, sheer full sleeves were caught at the wrist by deep cuffs with ruffled edge extending over the shoulders to form a plastron enhanced by Venice lace. The A-line skirt fell softly to a flounced hem, sweeping to back fullness cascading into a chapel-length train. Her chapel length veil of illusion was caught to a toque of satin and embroidered lace. She carried a bridal cascade of purple asters, stephanotis and baby's breath fastened with purple velvet ribbon and long streamers. A baby locket, given to her at birth, was her "something old," and the groom's mother's ivory garter was her "something borrowed."

The bride gave her mother a lifted flower from the bridal bouquet with a kiss on the way to the altar and repeated the gesture to the groom's mother after the ceremony on the way out of the church.

Following the ceremony, a reception took place at the Episcopal Student Center. The bride's table featured a tiered cake topped with lavender bells. Serving were Miss Jonita McDaniel, Mrs. Maureen Geiger of Amarillo, Miss Judy Davis, and Mrs. Donna Holton.

After the reception the bride and groom left for a brief wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wearing a deep purple pantsuit with lavender sweater beneath. Upon returning, they will make their home at 1310 8th St. in Canyon.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Canyon High School and is now a senior elementary education major at West Texas State University. She has been employed by Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation.

The bridegroom is also a 1970 graduate of Canyon High School and has completed two years at WTSU as a geology major. He is presently employed by the State Park and Wildlife Service at Palo Duro Canyon.

Mrs. Glenn William Johnson, nee Suzan Lynn Lawrence

Lawrence-Johnson Vows Solemnized

Miss Suzan Lynn Lawrence and Glenn William Johnson were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony taking place Saturday morning, October 7, in the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Baldwin J. Stribling read the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Ray Lawrence of Canyon and Mrs. Ray Lawrence of Englewood, Colo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jeans of Canyon.

The altar, draped in white satin and garlands of greenery, was flanked by branched candelabra and large urns filled with arrangements of white gladioli and pink chrysanthemums.

Miss Arleida Lindley, organist, played selections of wedding music, including "Always," "More," "How Great Thou Art," and traditional wedding processional and recessional.

Miss Peggy Brock was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Patton, Miss Jan Johnson, and Miss Debbie Miller. Lisa Johns Thompson was flowergirl, and trainbearers were Sheila and Sheri Johnson.

The attendants all wore floor-length empire gowns of pink satin with white ribbon lace sleeves. The bridesmaids' dresses were overlaid with white ribbon lace. They carried nosegays of pink carnations with streamers.

Danny McClain was best man. Groomsmen were Rick Edmondson, Dan Thompson, and Mitch Newkirk. Steve Brock and Jack McClain ushered guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal bridal gown of antique satin designed with fitted waistline, full A-line skirt, and long petal-point sleeves fastened with tiny buttons at the wrists. Sequin trim accented the neckline and satin bows with sequin trim adorned the skirt, which fell in a train in back. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a tear-drop headpiece of lace embroidered with sequins. She carried a bridal nosegay of pink roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath with white ribbon streamers.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Guests were registered by Mrs. Dale Brock. The bride's table featured the traditional wedding cake, punch, and coffee. Hostesses were Miss Sheryl Burt, Mrs. Rick Edmondson, Mrs. Frank McClain, Miss Rhonda Mowry of Amarillo, and Mrs. Edna Burt.

After October 12, the newlyweds will make their home at Ft. Hood, where the bridegroom will be stationed.

The bride was a student at Canyon High School and has spent the summer in Calumet, Michigan, studying drama and completing her education.

The bridegroom is an E-2 in the United States Army, having just completed boot camp at Fort Ord, Calif.

Canyon Teachers Attend Lubbock Reading Seminar

Mrs. Hazel Sunderman and Mrs. Nadene Lyles recently attended a reading conference of the Texas Association for Improvement of Reading held at Escadado High School in Lubbock. The conference was attended by some 1,100 administrators, reading teachers, librarians, and classroom teachers of the Panhandle area.

Mrs. Sunderman, Canyon Junior High School librarian, is currently serving as 2nd vice-president of the state association, and, in that capacity, serves as a consultant to 12 reading conferences held annually throughout the state in conjunction with universities that are engaged in teacher-training programs. Mrs. Lyles, Texas history teacher of CJHS, is vice-president of the area organization of TAIR, and as such is a member of the state board of directors.

TAIR is an affiliate of the Texas State Teachers' Association and has been in existence 26 years, developing innovative techniques and methods for teaching within the classroom and as an extra-curricular activity. The West Texas University area organization recently marked a 20-year anniversary and is organized to provide instruction and dialog among educators of the Panhandle.

A portion of the Lubbock conference was an explanation of the federal Right-to-Read Program, designed to eliminate functional illiteracy in the United States by 1980. Texas has been selected as a pilot-program state, and, within the next few months, selected teachers from over the state will meet for concentrated training sessions in teaching by various reading methods. TAIR and these local faculty members will be active in promoting the program in this area and throughout the state.

Balladeers Set Sing-in At University

Popular balladeer Helen Reddy and "down-home" singer-composer Mac Davis come together in concert Oct. 22 at West Texas State University.

The Australian songstress and the Texas country-folk performer will appear at 8 p.m. in the WTSU Fieldhouse. The concert is the second offering on the Student Activities Council's entertainment series.

Miss Reddy emerged from the Australian Outback to national fame in the United States with her hit tune, "I Don't Know How to Love Him," the tender ballad sung by Mary Magdalene in the Broadway hit, "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Since making the top of the charts, Miss Reddy has appeared on television variety shows and has toured from coast to coast.

Miss Reddy was born into a show business family and was singing and performing at an early age. She achieved wide popularity with her own show on the Australian Broadcasting Commission in which she appeared twice a week with a 22-piece orchestra.

Winning the Australian Bandstand International

contest sponsored by Phillips-Mercury records brought the singer to New York.

"Being a star in Australia is like being governor of the moon...you must make it in America first," she says.

She now has an album out on Capitol Records in which she is featured in her own arrangements of tunes by such performers as Van Morrison, Leon Russell and Tim Hardin.

In addition to her singing career, Miss Reddy is pursuing a degree in parapsychology at the University of California.

Described as a "pied piper with guitar," Mac Davis, a native of Lubbock, has spun out an impressive number of popular tunes including Elvis Presley's recordings of "Memories," "In the Ghetto" and "Don't Cry Daddy," O. C. Smith's "Friend, Lover, Woman, Wife" and "Daddy's Little Man," and Glen Campbell's "Within My Memory," "Everything a Man Could Ever Need" and "I'll Paint You a Song."

The Texas singer began his musical career in a church choir and expanded in college, where he says he majored in "beer and rock and roll." He formed a band and played the fraternity circuit from Alabama to the Carolinas and Florida.

His two albums, "Mac Davis, Song Painter" and "I Believe in Music" have done well on music charts. He has appeared on top television shows and earned standing ovations in nightclubs, concert halls and college campuses.

Tickets for the Reddy-Davis show, priced at $4 a person are on sale at the Activities Center box office. Admission is free to WTSU students with entertainment cards.

Mail orders may be addressed to the Student Activities Council, W.T. Station, Box 825, Canyon, 79015.

Needle Club Celebrates Association Of 37 Years

The ladies of the Workbasket Needle Club were in a reminiscent mood.

The sumptuous luncheon was consumed, and now they sat about the table—laid with imported cutwork linen cloth, centered with giant dahlia arrangement in crystal urn, set with bavarian china, ruby cut-glass goblets, and gleaming hollow sterling—and talked about the events and acquaintances of their past.

Most of the women gathered last Wednesday in the country home of Mrs. Ora Cox were grandmothers now. They would pass pictures of their grandchildren back and forth, compliment each other on a new recipe, or display a new piece of handwork or china painting. One of them would soon be leaving for an extensive tour in Europe—another was modeling a smashing sun hat made of a large plastic bottle and yards of pink net.

They were old friends—some of them had been together for 37 years or more.

Their needlework club was originated as the Ralph Home Demonstration Club on Sept. 25, 1935, by a group of homemakers living south of Canyon around Ralph Switch. Miss Allie Dozier was then the Randall County Home Demonstrator. Four of those present had been charter members: Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Mildred Gooch, Mrs. Elna Howell, and Mrs. Goldie Persons.

The mid-thirties in the Panhandle were lean years, but they had been young wives and mothers, full of high spirits and determination to bring the "finer things" of living to their families in the small scattered frame homes on the dusty plains.

"I can remember when it was my turn to have club, I didn't have a dining-room table. But I spread a nice, white linen tablecloth over an old stove and set out my best crystal and china," one of the group recalled. Another could remember hanging wet towels at the window to keep the house fresh on simmering, dust-blown days. Laundering by itself required hard work and strategy. Almost everyone made her own lie soap, but some were better at it than others. One woman had washed clothes in the evening, stored them overnight in a cool place, then risen early to hang them out and dry before the wind rose in the late morning hours.

The events of the Ralph Home Demonstration Club had always been looked forward to with pleasure. An issue of the Canyon News noted that on July 10, 1936, "A Prosperity tea in honor of Ralph Wardrobe Achievement Day was held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Berum. . . . A very interesting selection of quilts, spreads, and handwork were displayed; also the clothes closet of Mrs. Berum was inspected and proved to be the center of attraction."

From the outset, members of the club had taken pride in their culinary arts. On the first birthday of the founding of their club, there had been a Pantry Achievement program held in the home of Mrs. H.G. Persons. A newspaper article recorded that "After a thorough inspection of a well-filled pantry and the lovely new home of the hostess," the guests were served chicken salad sandwiches, mincemeat tarts topped with whipped cream, coffee and mints—with an anniversary cake to boot!

In 1947 the members voted to become a needle club and the name was changed to the Workbasket Needle Club, meeting each second and fourth Wednesdays of September through May. A Thanksgiving supper with husbands as honored guests and a Christmas Tree party were, and still are, held each year.

Club membership has always been limited to 18 members. The present membership includes Mmes. Vestal Black, Ora Cox, Lillie Byars, Cortez Dowlen, Elta Erwin, Doris Foster, Myrtle Gist, Mildred Gooch, Sally Hill, Elna Howell, Flossie Johnston, Roma Payne, Goldie Persons, Bess Reynolds, Helen Reynolds Clara Lou Slack, Margaret Wilkinson, and Miss Lou Ella Patterson.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, present president of the Needle Club, was a former Home Demonstration agent and advisor to the group for many years. She had begun her work in Randall County, young and inexperienced.

"I used to be embarrassed to give demonstrations before some of the women in the clubs around the county—they knew so much more than I," she confessed.

Participating from Canyon will be Mrs. Hazel Strickland, director of special services for the Canyon school system and vice-president of the regional council. Dr. Jo Bush of West Texas State University will be the college

All teachers, college and school personnel, and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Salad Luncheon Is Scheduled

Canyon Dames, formerly the Good Neighbors Club, will have a salad luncheon at 11:30 on Wednesday, Oct. 18, in the Episcopal University Center at 2514 4th Ave.

Women interested in using the nursery service at the United Methodist Church may make arrangements by calling Mrs. Jean McGee at 655-7478.

Greeks Band To Benefit Girls' Town

A new Greek project to benefit Girls' Town at Whiteface was revealed by Max Sunderman, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, this week in conjunction with the WTSU Homecoming celebration. Lambda Chi Alpha, Delta

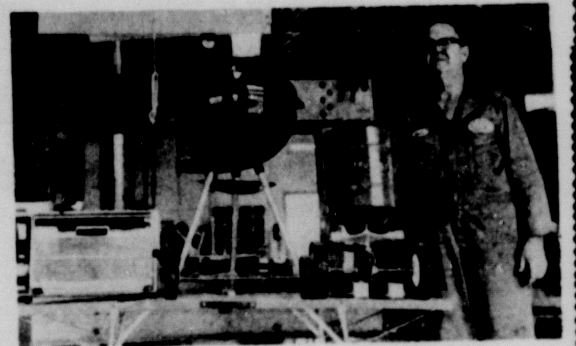

Zeta, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Alpha Tau Omega will each donate to Girls' Town $1.00 for each touchdown made by the Buffs and $10 for each game won by the Buffs during the season, retroactively to the beginning.

The project, which might act as a morale booster for the Buffs as well as benefit Girls' Town, was to be advertised in a sign in Buffalo Bowl during the homecoming game and thereafter, according to Sunderman.
